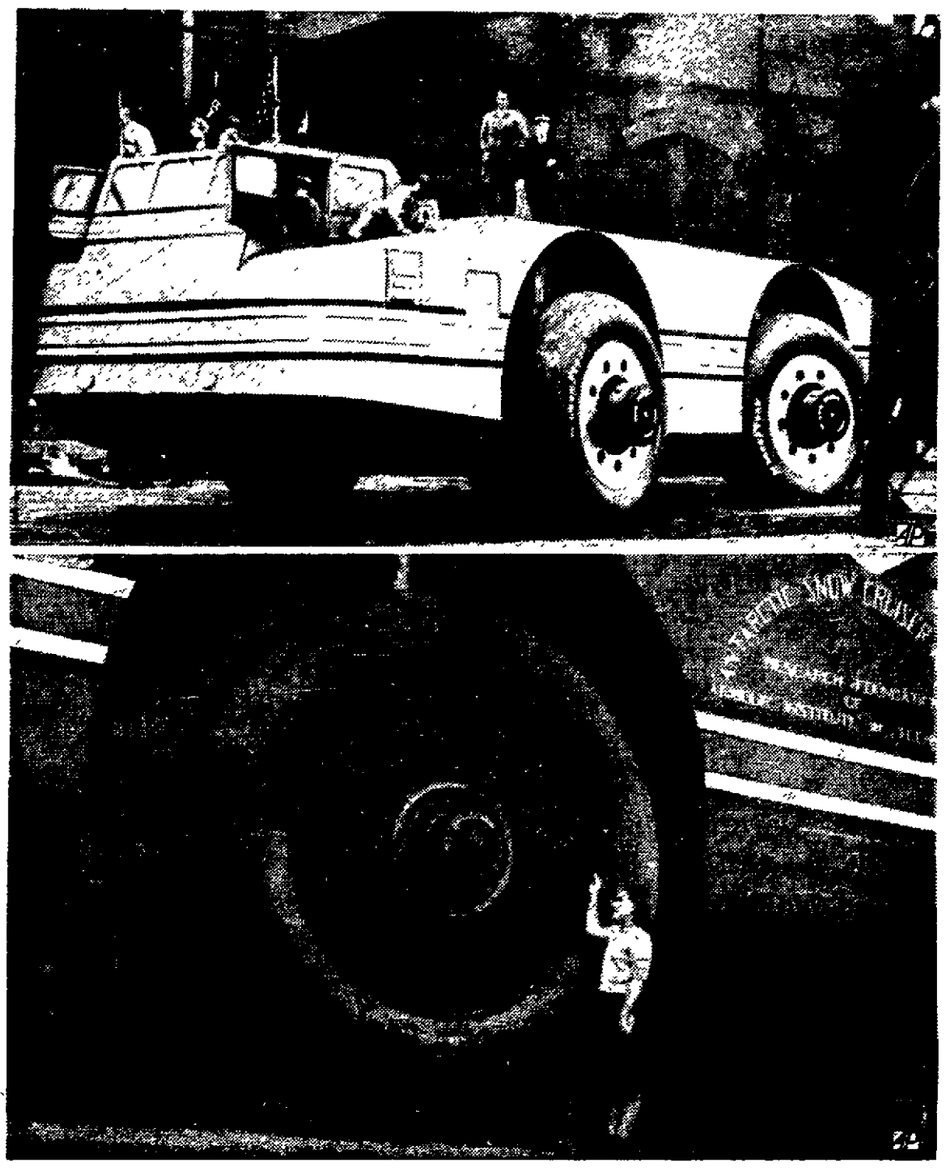
REDS GIVE U. S. SHIP TO NAZIS

$40,000 Hospital Addition Approved

Monster on Wheels; 10-Foot Tire



Designed for Antarctic exploration, this 27-ton snow cruiser built for Admiral Byrd was on its way to Mansfield today. It is shown above on a "shakedown" run before leaving Chicago where it was built. The big tire—shown below—10 feet high — dwarfs 13-year-old Dorothy Bennett and would give any motorist a headache if he had to fix a blow-out in it. The cruiser is scheduled to arrive here tomorrow.

CONSTRUCTION OF ANNEX TO START AT ONCE

3-Story Project to Be Erected at Rear, Will Be 54 Feet Deep, 40 Feet Wide

SPACE FOR 32 MORE BEDS

New Building to Relieve Overcrowding, Boost Capacity of Institution to 162.

Construction work will get under way immediately on a three-story addition to Mansfield General hospital, Dr. A. O. Fonkalsrud, superintendent, announced today.

Unanimous approval of the addition was given by the board of directors at a special meeting at the hospital last night.

The project, under consideration by the board for some time, will cost about $40,000, and will provide space for 32 additional adult beds, a new kitchen and storage space, Dr. Fonkalsrud said.

The addition will be built at the rear of the present structure and will extend south toward Ohio street, 54 feet. It will be 40 feet wide and will be built of red brick to match the present structure.

The basement is to be used for storage space, the kitchen and a dining room for employes will occupy the ground floor, and the first and second floors will be for patients.

Semi-Private Rooms.

All rooms in the addition will be semi-private and will be equipped with two and four beds.

"When completed they will help to relieve some of the overcrowding that has existed in the wards from time to time," Dr. Fonkalsrud said. "This will boost the bed capacity to about 162. This does not include about 38 beds in the nursery."

Ward space at the hospital was increased recently by enclosing two sun porches and using them for bed space. A porch at the east of the building was converted into a men's ward and one at the south was made into a women's ward.

The Bauer Brothers, contractors, of Mansfield, were awarded the contract for the building.

Murderess at Large

Winnie Ruth Judd, one of the nation's most notorious killers, shown above, was being hunted today following her escape from the state hospital for the insane at Phoenix, Ariz. She was imprisoned for murdering two woman companions in 1931, whose disected bodies she shipped to Los Angeles in a trunk. Escaping the gallows, she was found insane.

Fleeing 'Tiger Woman' Will Kill Again, Belief

Homicidal Mania of Winnie Ruth Judd May Lead To Other Deaths, Governor Says of Fugitive Trunk Murderess.

(By United Press)

PHOENIX, Ariz.—The homicidal mania which impelled "Tiger Woman" Winnie Ruth Judd to murder her two "best friends" eight years ago has grown steadily worse, it was revealed today, and this added urgency to frenzied efforts to recapture her.

She had escaped from the Arizona state hospital for the insane, and, as police looked for her throughout the southwest, Gov. Robert T. Jones revealed that her "condition is growing worse all the time" and that she is now more insane than when insanity saved her from paying the extreme penalty for an insane, bestial murder.

Gov. Jones revealed the contents of a note which the blond murderess left with her mother a few hours after she escaped from the hospital Tuesday night. She said she only wanted to see her bed-ridden father and her husband, Dr. William C. Judd, who is a patient in the Veterans hospital in Los Angeles.

She had seen her father, going to him immediately after she walked out of the hospital, leaving a cunningly contrived dummy

Freighter Goes Back to Custody Of Prize Crew

City Of Flint's American Crew Still Aboard, Report; Germans Claim Right To Vessel Under International Law; Washington Stays Silent.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Secretary Hull announced today the American government has demanded of Soviet Russia the return of the City of Flint and her cargo to her American crew.

(By International News Service)

BERLIN—Soviet Russia today awarded the American freighter City of Flint to the German prize crew which captured her on the high seas.

The German government notified Alexander C. Kirk, American charge d'affaires, of the Russian decision.

The German prize crew, interned at Murmansk upon the City of Flint's arrival, has been released.

The crew will be allowed to go aboard the freighter, which will then put to sea.

"It must be assumed," a spokesman said, "that the crew will not take her to America."

So far as is known in Berlin, Captain Joseph A. Gainard, master of the City of Flint, and the 41 American members of his own crew are still aboard the vessel in Murmansk harbor. What will be done with them is not yet known.

Germany informed Kirk that after thorough examination of the City of Flint case Soviet authorities decided that the ship had been taken into Murmansk harbor for repairs to its machinery and to correct deficiencies in her navigation charts which made the vessel "unseaworthy."

Cite International Law.

"Therefore, under international rules, the ship with its prize crew aboard must be allowed to proceed to sea after necessary aid has been given at Murmansk," Kirk was informed.

Word to this effect arrived in Berlin from Moscow during the morning, coincident with announcement that the German prize crew was no longer under detention.

Questioned as to whether Moscow and Berlin now consider the case settled, authentic quarters replied in the affirmative.

Then asked whether there was any likelihood that the vessel would be allowed to proceed to America, a spokesman declared:

"It must be assumed that since the ship was taken to Murmansk by a German prize crew, it will also leave Murmansk with the same prize crew aboard.

"It must be assumed also that this crew will not take her to America."

The Russian decision, it was pointed out in Berlin, does not affect the question of contraband, which Germany charges the City of Flint was carrying. This matter will now fall under the juris-

27-Ton Snow Cruiser On Way East, Due In City Tomorrow

Admiral Byrd's huge Antarctic snow cruiser, resembling a prehistoric monster, left Chicago at 2:45 a. m. today on a cross-country trek which is expected to bring it to Mansfield Friday night.

Twice delayed in starting its trip to Boston because of necessary repairs and adjustments, the grotesque machine is due to stop tonight at Ft. Wayne, Ind., and then come on to Mansfield over route 30 for an overnight stop Friday night.

While in the city it will be on exhibition at the G. L. Rogers motor agency, 345 Park avenue east. Members of the crew of the cruiser will describe its operation to spectators.

Maximum speed of the mechanical monster is said to be 30 miles an hour, but when it left Chicago today it rolled along at from 10 to 20 miles an hour. It was piloted by Dr. Thomas C. Poulter, its designer, who expects to reach Boston in eight days. The cruiser will make another overnight stop in Ohio at Akron.

Byrd will take it with him when he leaves Boston about Nov. 1 on an expedition to Antarctica to explore and establish the United States' claims to Antarctic regions. The cruiser was designed by the Research Foundation of Armour Institute to carry members of Byrd's staff across treacherous, icy wastes with ease and comfort.

It is 55 feet long, 15 feet wide, weighs 27 tons and has wheels 10 feet in diameter, each separately powered. It will carry a five-passenger plane on its roof and combines all the features of a deluxe trailer, machine shop, generating plant, and laboratory, complete with radio and meteorological recording equipment

It can cruise 5,000 miles with one year's supplies for a crew of four. Its radical design, including wheels that turn separately and in combination and can be retracted or slipped forward or backward, will enable it to span crevasses as wide as 15 feet.

SEEK EMBARGO STRENGTH TEST

Opponents of Arms Sales to Offer New Amendment When Vote Comes Tomorrow.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON — (U P) — The senate voted today to penalize foreign merchant vessels found guilty of flying the American flag as a ruse to avoid submarine attacks.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Senate opponents of the neutrality bill switched their strategy today—with little hope of success—in an effort to get a clearer test of their strength for retaining the controverted arm embargo.

With a final vote expected tomorrow, Senator Clark (D-Mo.), an opposition leader, said that he would try to insert in the bill the language of the existing law forbidding arms shipments to belligerents.

He conceded that his amendment had little chance of adoption, but said that it would provide an affirmative test instead of a negative or "backdoor" approach through a motion to strike out the bill's section repealing the embargo.

Administration forces welcomed the opposition change in plans and claimed between 60 and 70 votes for repeal. The opposition conceded them 55 to 60. A majority is 49 provided all 96 members vote.

Clark said that he would offer

Ruby Keeler Goes Home, Gets Set To Divorce Al Jolson

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—The love song of Al Jolson and Ruby Keeler is ended, but for Al the melody lingers on.

Singer Jolson sadly confirmed today reports that Miss Keeler had left him and would sue for divorce.

Jolson said that just before Ruby left he told her:

"I hope everything will work out all right. I hope you'll come back right away."

"Maybe," she replied.

Miss Keeler and Albert Jolson, jr., 4, the boy they adopted from a Chicago nursery, were in seclusion at the Toluca Lake home of her parents.

Ruby

Jolson, a member of the Jewish faith, said that in discussion of the separation he offered his Catholic wife $400 a week for life and a settlement of $50,000 in event she re-married, with a $100,000 cash trust fund for Al, jr. Miss Keeler rejected the offer as insufficient, he added.

TWO OFFICIALS FREE ON BOND

Ashland Court Grants Plea for Time on Indictments on Criminal Libel.

ASHLAND—Justice of the Peace Mark M. Lutz and Constable Walter Petchler of the village of Brunswick, were free on $500 bond today while awaiting hearing on a charge of criminal libel Nov. 4.

The two men, who were indicted by the Ashland county grand jury this week, appeared before Judge H. E. Culbertson this morning and asked that their hearing be postponed for a week or ten days.

The affidavits which were the basis of the libel action were made public this morning. They were sworn against Robert Greenlun, suspended highway worker, and signed by the two Brunswick officials. The grand jury report said the affidavits were "false and malicious."

The paper signed by Lutz charged that Greenlun has approached him and asked for contributions to a Democratic campaign fund promising in return to take down "speed trap" signs which had been posted at Brunswick; that Greenlun had frequently asked for campaign funds, and that he had appeared intoxicated in a highway truck.

JOBLESS, HE'LL SELL ONE EYE

Ohioan Wants $10,000 to Aid His Family, Says It's No Joke.

TROY, O.—(NS)—Unable to find a job since he was laid off 15 months ago, Clyde Lowry, 45, today offered to sell one of his eyes for $10,000.

Lowry, who inserted an advertisement to that effect in Dayton newspapers, said he hoped the unusual offer would not be regarded as a joke.

Lowry said he was sorely in need of funds to support his wife and 3-year-old son. The savings accumulated while working for 16 years in a Troy industrial plant, are exhausted, he said.

STANDING PAT: Chamberlain Lashes Nazis Bid For Soviet Aid

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—Germany was accused by Prime Minister Chamberlain today of inviting Russia "to join a crusade against the British Empire" in the war which he indicated Britain was ready to pursue to the end.

The prime minister, giving his eighth weekly war report to the House of Commons, replied directly to the Danzig declaration of German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop that Germany would make a finish fight.

"There can be but one reply," said Chamberlain, "and we are prepared to give it."

His accusation that Germany sought to bring Russia into the war against Britain brought laughter from Soviet Ambassador Ivan Maisky who was listening from the diplomatic gallery.

Chamberlain gave official conformation that the German pocket battleship Deutschland sank the British freighter Stonegate, indicating that the swift warship was operating on the high seas far outside the British blockade.

The Stonegate's crew was rescued by the United States freighter City of Flint last week in the Atlantic and landed at Tromso, Norway, after the American vessel herself was captured by a German raider.

Chamberlain said "it seems to have become the rule for merchant ships to be sunk without warning," but declared enemy submarines were being destroyed "at a sufficiently high rate" to give Britain confidence their menace eventually would be halted.

He referred specifically to the Danzig speech Tuesday of German Foreign Minister Von Ribbentrop.

"Ribbentrop has announced an intention of seeing the struggle through with all their (Germany's) energy and strength," Chamberlain said.

"If that is indeed their decision there can be but one reply and we are prepared to give it."

He began his reference to Von Ribbentrop's speech by saying he did not intend to waste time by "commenting on the many details of this performance" and added:

"No one in this country will be deceived by its distortions of the truth and there is already abundant evidence that Herr Von Ribbentrop has been no more successful in his attempt to mislead impartial observers in other parts of the world."

Baer Lashes Locke Promises; Republicans Rest, See Victory

Calls Vow to Find Traffic Problem Solution 'Ridiculous.'

Mayor Claude M. Hunter's Republican opponent at the Nov. 7 election, William J. Locke, was the target today of a verbal lashing administered by G. A. Baer, Democratic central committee chairman and manager of the municipal campaign.

Slamming Locke for making "imprudent promises," Baer charged the mayor's opponent with making statements that he "could not keep."

Baer pointed particularly to a statements made by Locke Monday night at a Republican rally at Prospect park during which he pledged himself to solve Mansfield's traffic problem.

"The statement was ridiculous," Baer asserted. "He nor anyone else can solve the problem. It's one that is not Mansfield's alone.

200 Party Workers Turn Out for Dinner at North Park.

Republicans took time out in their municipal campaign last night to have some fun and talk over their chances for victory at the Nov. 7 election.

More than 200 party workers and candidates jammed the North Lake park pavilion for a dinner meeting sponsored by the Republican Women's council of Mansfield, and nearly a dozen speakers predicted a sweeping G. O. P. win in the city this fall.

There was no talk of issues and nothing was said about the Democratic opponents. Nine candidates were introduced by Atty. Stuart H. Cramer, the party's campaign chairman, who said the large attendance at the three Republican meetings held so far indicated the party "is going places in this election."

RIVAL CLAIMS: Germans Lose 3,000; Berlin Hurls Lie Charge

(By International News Service)

PARIS—German losses in dead and wounded in two attacks on the Moselle and Saar river sectors today were semi-officially estimated at 3,000.

Espionage agents reported that several hospital trains, filled with wounded from these battles, were located at Trier, north of the zone of fighting.

In spite of snow, sleet, and biting cold on the front, German patrol activity was increased today. Military authorities in Paris described the patrols' efforts as a strenuous search for weak points, to be used as points of entry for a major attack, if and when it comes.

These probing activities at present are strongest north of Forbach and east of the Moselle river.

One German patrol of 50 men accidentally stumbled into a village occupied by the French in the vicinity of Apach. The Germans launched an attack, but were repulsed.

Meanwhile propaganda vans continued cruising up and down the line, broadcasting the assertion that Germany has no quarrel with the French. Each time they show themselves they are met with heavy fire from the French side.

Rain and snow, causing further rises in swollen rivers and turning no-man's-land into a swamp virtually impassible for motorized units, today made the possibility of a

CITY JOINS IN OBSERVANCE OF NAVY DAY FRIDAY

St. Peter's and Senior High Schools Arrange Programs to Commemorate Event.

Mansfield tomorrow will join in the 18th annual nation-wide observance of Navy Day, this year of greater significance because of the present war in Europe.

Schools and various organizations will sponsor special programs today and tomorrow and business places and public buildings will display American flags.

A special Navy Day assembly will be held for elementary and high school students at 1:45 p. m. tomorrow at St. Peter's high school, and another will be held Monday at Senior high.

The Senior high program has been postponed due to another assembly at the school today and because there will be no school tomorrow to allow faculty members to attend the annual state teachers convention in Cleveland. There will be no special program at Madison high school but some mention was made today in history classes. Other schools in the city were to follow the same plan.

Students to Talk.

Talks by five students of St. Peter's high school will feature the program there. Catherine Basting will speak on "The History and Greatness of Our Navy"; John Leibfritz, senior class president, and George Armbruster will describe their experiences at "Boys State" at Columbus last August; William Butterfield will speak on "I Thank God I Am An American," and Carl Dillon will give a talk on the neutrality law.

William Michael, a graduate of the school and of Dayton university will present three solo numbers, "Sleep" by Lebieg, "My Moonlight Madonna" by Fibich, and "The Pink Lady" by Caryll. He will also sing "God Bless America" with the students, and the program will close with the entire assembly singing "The Star Spangled Banner". Raymond Baum will be the accompanist.

Joining in the Navy Day observance in this area will be 28 members of Unit No. 11 of the United States Naval Communication Reserve under the command of E. L. Heck, Radioman First Class, USNR, Shelby. Headquarters for this group are in Galion.

This organization is made up of trained radio operators. Mansfield members are J. C. Baker, Nicholas Marion, Adam Holzmiller, James Anderson and H. E. McAllister. Others are from Shelby, Plymouth, Greenwich, Willard, Galion, Bucyrus, Crestline and New Washington.

Inaugurated in 1922, Navy Day observance was set for Oct. 27, the birthday of Theodore Roosevelt, 26th president of the United States, whose efforts contributed to the development of the modern U. S. navy. Navy Day is sponsored by the United States Navy and the Navy League.

Woman Passenger Finds Conductor Without Change.

LATROBE, Pa.—(U.P.)—When an elderly woman passenger on his railroad car offered him a thousand dollar government bond in payment of her fare, the conductor gaped unbelievingly.

After he had recovered sufficiently to inform her he could not accept the bond, the passenger reached into her bag, came up with a handful of $10 and $20 gold pieces.

Another shake of the head from the conductor brought a handful of $5 gold pieces instead.

After the trainman went into detail about federal laws on gold hoarding, a younger woman traveling with the old lady, came to the rescue with paper money.

CHAPTER IX

Roger, son of Dain Brewster the lumber king, had always been wildly irresponsible, but otherwise good company. He was still the idol of his mother, Selia, who always excused his faults. His father pretended to lecture this incorrigible thirty-year-old son, but usually followed harsh words with a fat check, thus ruining all pretention of discipline. Roger was supposed to be something or other in a lumber company owned by his father, but spent far more time playing polo and golf than in his office. He was genial, a good spender, and therefore immensely popular.

He had proposed to Rita the year she came out, and been promptly rejected, but had ever afterward remained one of her best men friends. Rita had heard of too many escapades of this handsome Romeo to take him seriously. But she could not have selected a more suitable companion for her present turbulent mood, because Roger was always best at night when the hours seemed too short to burn out his high-voltaged gaiety.

Rita stood before the full-length mirror in her dressing-room giving herself last-minute inspection. Roger liked his women alluring, and he was waiting now down in the living-room But Rita was in no hurry. Let him wait.

She looked innocent and excited enough to be a sub-deb going to her first party, but her large blue eyes, shadowed by sleepless nights, revealed the complete story of her misery and rebellion. Under her evident exuberance was an agitated defiance of fate, a genuine alarm for the future.

She dared not allow herself to let down for an instant. If she did, she would be sunk.

Rita liked the long-sleeved, black surah silk dinner gown she was wearing. It was demurely high at the throat, yet it gave her an air of glamorous sophistication, and she liked that, too. At her breast she wore a large cameo surrounded by diamonds, but no other jewelry. Even her fingernails were lacquered with a subdued tint tonight, as if in deference to the tragedy which had so recently befallen the house of Green.

But she could not conceal the highlight of her whole personality —that glistening gold hair piled into a French roll on the back of her head, the bright curls framing her fair forehead, falling coquettishly back from her shell-like ears. Just a hint of rouge had been added to her hot cheeks, and a mere touch of lipstick to her already crimson pout of a mouth.

She smiled a little crookedly at her reflection in the glass, stuck a hairpin into a curl, hoping it would hold.

"Pretty good work for an amateur!" she told herself. "Even Lernie would be surprised! You've put yourself together rather decently—I'm absolutely proud of you!"

She snatched a long ermine cape from the back of a chair, and hurried resolutely out of the room and down the stairs.

She met Roger Brewster with one of her old sunny smiles which he mistook for glad anticipation of his company. But he was so darkly handsome and distinguished-looking in his dinner clothes, it was not too difficult to be nice to him.

They went swiftly arm in arm, out the door.

Some one switched on the light inside Roger's car Rita, gathering up her wide skirt, did not look up as Roger handed her into the rear seat and got in beside her.

She started when Roger said, "Rita—I want you to know my old Princeton buddy—Tom Cleveland, from New York He's the grandson of Silas Cleveland—you know the diamond mine man."

The young man in the driver's seat turned around and grinned mockingly at her. She was looking at Stanton—Stanton, her former chauffeur—in silent amazement

"Mr Cleveland?" she exclaimed, in bewilderment. "Oh! How much you resemble a man I used to know!"

Tom Cleveland, alias Stanton, did not appear disturbed by the cutting sarcasm in her voice. There came only a sudden flicker of amusement in his grey eyes. Rita couldn't decide whether he was laughing with her or at her —and it did make a difference.

"I know the whole story, Rita—about Tom's being your chauffeur. It was a swell stunt while it lasted. He wanted to see if he could take it, I guess. Wasn't that it, Tom?" Roger had made it sound perfectly plausible.

Tom Cleveland shut off the dome light and started the motor. The car began to get into motion. "You're more or less wrong," he flung over his shoulder," but it makes a good yarn. Not many people, I hope, will remember me as Miss Rhodes' chauffeur — I drove her very little."

Rita was rigid with anger. Oh, how she would like to give this unsufferable Tom Cleveland a piece of her mind! So this was the poor, deserving young man who had played on her sympathies, made love to her—couldn't marry her! He'd let her make a fool of herself and thought it a huge joke. Oh, she would never forgive him! His grandfather had left one of the biggest fortunes in America when he died last year, and Tom Cleveland must be one of the richest young men in the country. And he went around doing "stunts!" The despicable cad! She'd show him!

But she forced a laugh. "Think of the publicity!" she exclaimed, loud enough for Tom to hear. "Newspaper headlines, photographs, radio flashes! The fickle Miss Rhodes being chauffeured by a famous Cleveland as a sort of—of escapade! It's—why, it's colossal!"

She laughed again, a little shrilly.

"A lot of girls who have to earn a living would give a lot to get such a publicity break," put in Roger. "Too bad you get it, Rita. I know a cute little number in the Pasadena Playhouse who's praying for something hot like that to creep up on her."

Tom Cleveland made no comment, and neither did Rita. She stared out at the starlit sky, her mind in a turmoil. Why hadn't she known enough to stay home tonight?

"We're picking up Eva Sheen," Roger went on. "She's visiting the MacGregors at Santa Monica. Tom knew her in New York."

"How—interesting," came stiffly from Rita. "I met Miss Sheen when she was out here last year. She's—very attractive."

"Yeah—a darn clever girl. But tell me—you two—how did you make out? How could you fall for such a trick. Rita—Tom's no ordinary fellow."

IN THE RUHL BOOK

By OSCAR RUHL,

WRITING in this week's Saturday Evening Post, Francis Wallace, nationally-known sports authority and novelist reveals that college football players do get financial assistance for their participation in the sport. This revelation is not startling we admit, but his article is probably the first to state actual figures.

Dwelling on the big explosion at Pittsburgh university, Wallace states that during the 1924-27 period, the Panthers received as high as $100 per month, depending on their prestige and demands. No work was required, only outstanding football ability.

In 1928, Pitt adopted a flat rate of $500 to be paid in 10 installments. The ante was increased to $650 from 1929 to 1932. Salaries were reduced to $400, plus tuition and books, in 1933. "This was designed to put Pitt practically on the 'BRT' basis-board, room —and tuition," Wallace writes. "But without work for the boys." The 1934-36 period found the rate raised to $480.

Now the financial payments have been changed to conform more to the standards adopted by the majority of the schools, he contends. This system demands part-time work.

The story, "Test Case at Pitt," also deals with the row which resulted in the resignation of Jock Sutherland as head football coach. Wallace blames administration jealousies for the movement that brought about the change in athletic policy.

Ray Ride Confesses Case Team's Tough.

FOLLOWERS of the Case Scientists should be highly pleased by Coach Ray Ride's confession that this year's team is the best since he went to Cleveland in 1930. Ride's admission just about makes it official for Cleveland grid experts already have established the Rough Riders as the favorites for "Big Four" honors.

Bob Zuppke says in order to be a successful football coach a guy has to be crazy. Haw!

Remember that famous "wrong way" decision of Referee John Getchell that helped the Irish defeat Carnegie Tech last year? Well, it is not likely that Notre Dame will need that help Saturday when they tangle again.

Francis Schmidt is certain to keep his football job at Ohio State for several more years, they say. Yes, even if he loses a game or two. But don't believe everything you hear. The late Sam Willaman, Schmidt's predecessor, lost only one game the season before he was fired. Columbus wants champions, not near-champions.

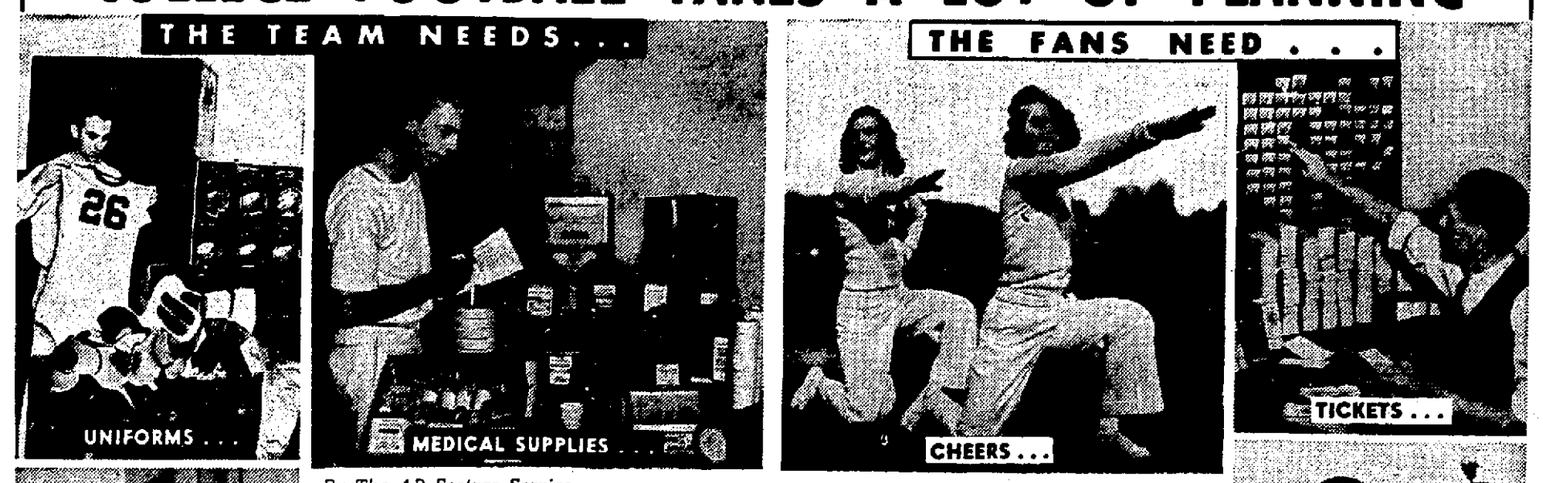
COLLEGE FOOTBALL TAKES A LOT OF PLANNING



By The AP Feature Service

Gridiron fans seldom realize the months of preparation necessary to provide the picture they see as they step into a football stadium. FOR THE TEAM: Custodians to keep clean and repaired two sets of uniforms, shoes for wet or dry fields. Medical equipment, tape and bandages. Trainers to rub out muscular pains and treat minor hurts. Lockers and showers. Publicists to ballyhoo the club. FOR THE FANS: Clerks to handle both mail and box office ticket requests. Field telephoners and announcers. Eat and drink concessionaires. Bands and cheer leaders. Sports writers and radio broadcasters. Program and pennant hawkers. Parking lot attendants. Ushers. It's big business.

WALKER, BOYD TO HEAD COLUMBUS MITT SHOW

COLUMBUS — Central Ohio's greatest heavyweight fight in more than a decade will be offered in Columbus auditorium Monday. It will bring together Jack "Buddy" Walker of Columbus, undefeated claimant of the Ohio championship, and Wild Bill Boyd of Birmingham, Ala.

Willing to Give Larry's Idea Hearing.

STARTLED out of a sound off-season slumber by the alarm of Brooklyn's early rising Leland Stanford MacPhail, who wants to supplement the world series with games between the other clubs, most of the major league magnates are cautious.

Some of them have been burned before by their own criticism of the red-head's red hot schemes—such as night baseball—and are willing to give his latest brainchild a hearing.

This is what MacPhail said he intended to have anyway at the annual meetings at Cincinnati in December, when he will propose that the first place clubs play each other, as now, and the second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eight place teams also meet.

"Inter-league competition should not be confined to two clubs. A series of inter-league games in which all clubs participate would fairly determine the question of supremacy each season," argued MacPhail.

The first reaction of a lot of persons was probably voiced most succinctly by Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Senators, who snapped: "Just say for me that MacPhail is nuts. Somebody proposed this a long time ago and it was just as silly then as it is now."

But for the most part calmer spirits prevailed.

Mephisto, Miller to Head Card

Nolan Announces Main Bout For First Mat Show at Armory Monday.

THE QUALITY Athletic Club, which has staged athletic shows in Mansfield for the past three years, has leased the Armory and will present a series of wrestling shows during the fall and winter.

The opening show will be Monday night and Matchmaker Tim Nolan has arranged what appears to be a bang-up card.

The Great Mephisto, popular lightheavyweight, has been contracted to headline the opening program and he has signed to meet Walter Miller, rugged Atlanta, Ga., 175 pounder, in the main bout.

Articles signed by the men call for them to wrestle for two best out of three falls with an hour and a half time limit. They will wrestle at catchweights which means that neither man will have to make any specified weight but since both are lightheavies they will likely scale around 180 pounds.

The rules of the Midwest Wrestling Association will govern the match and MWA regulations will be in effect at all matches here.

Mansfield fans know Mephisto well. The mysterious one has lost only one match here and that was to Dory Detton, who at that time held the lightheavyweight championship of the world.

* * *

Miller is not so widely known in this part of the country but he is highly respected for his wrestling ability and for his ability to dish out punishment.

Three Networks to Air Ohio State-Cornell Tilt.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The networks this mid-Saturday of the football season will broadcast two football games in full and the last part of a third.

Three networks, WJZ-NBC, CBS and MBS, are to concentrate on the Cornell-Ohio State at Columbus, while the WEAF-NBC list of stations picks up Yale vs. Michigan at Ann Arbor. After il completes the Cornell-Ohio details, MBS will swing to Evanston, Ill., for the conclusion of the Illinois-Northwestern game.

MASSILLON CLUB HOST TO NEW CASTLE FRIDAY

MASSILLON — (NS)—Undefeated Massillon high school, the most talked about high school football team in the middle west, prepared today for the invasion of New Castle, Pa., high school gridders tomorrow night.

Portable bleachers have been purchased, boosting the Massillon stadium's capacity to 16,400. A 7 to 0 loss to New Castle 19 games back was the last reverse met by Massillon.

HEAD FOR MICHIGAN

NEW HAVEN — (NS) — A Yale squad of 35 gridders prepared today to entrain for Dearborn, Mich., where they will establish quarters for the game with the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor Saturday. Coach Ducky Pond planned to hold a signal drill in Michigan stadium tomorrow.

Reserved Seats Placed on Sale

All seats for the remaining Mansfield high school football games at Stadium field will be reserved, George Sherman, treasurer of the athletic department, announced today.

Ticket prices will remain unchanged. Adult admission will be 50 cents, high school students, 25 cents, and grade school students, 15 cents.

Ducats may be purchased at the Tawse, Central and Brown' pharmacies and Smokehouse, Sherman said.

Giants to Install Lights Next Year

NEW YORK—(AP)—Despite the long-standing objections of Manager Bill Terry, the New York Giants have decided to install a bang-up lighting system in the Polo Grounds and play a full quota of night games next summer, both at home and on the road.

The Giants thus become the last of the big league clubs to haul down their sunlit banner and succumb to the financial lure of the arcs. Up to now Terry stubbornly has refused to expose his athletes to the night air, but he evidently has been overruled at last. An official announcement will be made in about a week.

This will leave Yankee stadium alone of the three local ball plants without a lighting system.

Columbus Scene of Horse Sale

COLUMBUS—The largest horse sale ever held in Ohio will be staged on Nov. 9 and 10 at the State Fair grounds by the Ohio Horse sale company of which Harry Short, well known horseman, is secretary-treasurer.

Included in the list of race horses are Senator V. 2:01¾, winner of ten races this year, including the Walnut Hall Farm cup; Tom Manning (3) 2:06½, winner of eight races including the Governor's cup stake at the Ohio State Fair and broke a twenty-six-year-old record for the race; Grattan Axworthy 2:02¼, winner of his last six races, topping summaries at Coshocton and Lancaster; Prince Adam (3) 2:05½; Action (3) 2:04½, State Fair winner and seven other races; Neil Hanover 2:03¾ and Chestnut Lucky Boy, who stepped in 2:05½ at Lexington as a two-year-old.

COLUMBUS—(NS)—Ohio State University Athletic Director L. W. St. John today indicated there was a possibility of a football game between the reserves of Purdue and Ohio State. The game would be played in Ohio stadium on Nov. 11, the day the Buck varsity clashes with Chicago in the Windy City.

Plan for City League Season

Seven Teams Tentatively Entered in Cage Loop.

Preliminary organization plans for the City Class A basketball league were perfected at a meeting of team sponsors and managers at the Y. M. C. A. last night.

Teams tentatively entered in the circuit are the Yuncker Sports, defending champions; Kochheiser Athletic Supplies, Mansfield Tires, Isaly Dairys, Westinghouse, Elks and Hi-Speeds.

No opening date was set, but league spokesmen said that the first games would probably be played in December. The election of officers will be held in conjunction with another meeting to be held at a date yet to be selected next week.

Reds to Play Cuba Games

CINCINNATI—(AP)—With the world full of trouble, Warren C. Giles has reinforced and implemented the Cincinnati Reds' good neighbor pact with the republic of Cuba.

Again assuming his portfolio of minister of foreign affairs for the National league champions, the white-haired boss of the front office has signed, sealed, and delivered a contract with the government of the pearl of the Antilles calling for the boys to play three exhibition games in Havana next March against a picked team of Cuban players.

SLATED TO START

ITHACA, N. Y.—(NS)—Mortimer Landsberg today won the chance to start against Ohio State Saturday in place of Kenneth Brown in the backfield by dint of his brilliant showings in the daily scrimmages, Coach Carl Snavely announced.

NEW YORK — Andy Holland, 161, New York, outpointed Irish Pat Durbin, 161, Cincinnati, (6).

Sophomores May Start at Tackles for Ohio.

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— Two sophomores will be Ohio State's starting tackles Saturday against Cornell, it appeared probable today. The aggressive play of Jack Stephenson, 214-pound husky from Marion, apparently has won him the starting call over Charley Maag, Sandusky junior and place-kicker extraordinary, at right tackle. Thornton Dixon, 212 pounds, Toledo, has the edge at left tackle.

Tygers Ready For Kenmore

Mansfield Gridsters Not Likely to Be Surprised In Manner They Were Last Fall.

ONE of the worst defeats suffered by the Mansfield high school Tygers last fall was administered by Akron Kenmore, which handed the bengal squad a 33 to 6 licking.

Sandusky whipped the Tygers, 45 to 0, and Canton McKinley trounced Mansfield, 32 to 0, but the defeat fashioned by Kenmore was even moro decisive than the tanning handed out by Massillon, the Tigers winning 33 to 14.

Kenmore boasted of only an ordinary team last fall, and the 1939 Akron eleven which comes to Stadium field at 2:30 p. m. Saturday has fared no better.

But it is not likely that the Kenmores will surprise the Tygers again this year.

The Tygers haven't forgotten that 1938 trimming, and they are going to do everything in their power to make amends as they did against Sandusky two weeks ago.

If they succeed against Kenmore, the Tygers can then start thinking about Shelby and Canton McKinley, with which Mansfield also has a couple of old scores to settle. The Whippets also trimmed the Tygers last year.

With one week of rest behind

DO YOU WANT ALL-WINTER RADIATOR PROTECTION FOR ONLY $1.50?

HERE'S THE WAY many car owners do it every year! They put in a couple of quarts of Du Pont "Zerone" early in the season for protection against rusting and sudden cold snaps.

When it gets really cold, they add enough "Zerone" for lower temperatures. A total of six quarts, put in as needed, can protect a car with an average size cooling system (15 quarts) for the entire winter. And six quarts of "Zerone" cost only $1.50!

You may need a little more or less, depending on the condition and capacity of your car radiator and the severity of winter in your neighborhood. But the efficiency of "Zerone" will save you real money.

"Zerone" prevents rust and corrosion, gives better dissipation of engine heat, avoids power losses. Remember, it's only $1.00 a gallon, 25¢ a quart.

Favor State Team

Betting Odds on Bucks for Game With Cornell Which Heads Weekly Card.

By HENRY SUPER

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—The ranks of football's unbeaten teams are thinning out and by the end of the season it's a safe bet you'll be able to write the list of perfect-record elevens on the head of a pin.

Only 11 major teams—those who are on the so-called gridiron "big time"—have yet to suffer defeat. And eight teams in this same class—including some of the best in the land—are undefeated but tied.

All but three teams which now lead the parade face formidable opposition and the law of averages says some must fall, because three games pair teams with perfect records.

The No. 1 fray of the day will be staged in gridiron-goofy Columbus, where unbeaten Ohio State takes on unbeaten Cornell. The betting favors Ohio State and, unless all the advance information is wrong, the Cornell boys will be lucky to get back to Ithaca with their helmets and shoulder pads.

In New Orleans, unbeaten Mississippi, whose only major victim has been Louisiana State, faces a Tulane team that has been toughened by many hard scraps and which has a clean record except for a 14-14 tie with North Carolina.

And in Philadelphia that same North Carolina, with only a tie against it, will test unbeaten Pennsylvania, which holds decisions over Yale and Harvard.

Tennessee, No. 1 team of the country now, has an easy day against Mercer. Kentucky, still to be tested under heavy fire, has a breather against Xavier of Cincinnati, and Georgetown, unbeaten but tied by Syracuse, shouldn't be in trouble against George Washington.

But the rest of the unbeaten brigade won't find this week-end one for relaxing. Michigan, Notre Dame, Texas A. & M., Oregon State and Duquesne, the remaining five of that unbeaten and untied club, all have tough opponents.

Michigan goes against Yale, still a "mystery" team. Michigan shouldn't have any trouble but those are the kind of games that usually go haywire. Notre Dame takes on Carnegie Tech, which is smarting under its first defeat of the year by N. Y. U., last week and still remembers the lapse by an official last year which gave Notre Dame a break and victory.

Texas A. and M. plays Baylor in a Southwest conference game, and contests in that sector are as unpredictable as a deck of cards. Oregon State tackles Washington State in one of the Pacific northwest classics of the year and Duquesne, which knocked off Pittsburgh last week, plays a tough Texas Tech team tomorrow night in Pittsburgh.

* * *

The remaining five teams in the unbeaten but tied class also have tough assignments this week-end.

Dartmouth, held to a scoreless tie by Navy, takes on Harvard,

A 2706 TOTAL by the Refrigeration Machine team held the spotlight in the Westinghouse league at the Meder alleys last night. Rolling scores of 906, 903 and 897, the Westinghouse team won two games from Range Assembly No. 2. Johnny Perrine led the way with 588.

BUCKS TRADITION

DAYTON—(INS)—Bucking tradition which decrees that no team beats Ohio university three years in a row, Dayton university will be after its third consecutive victory Saturday when the two teams meet in Athens. More than 500 Dayton students will accompany the team to the southern Ohio city.

TYGERS IN READINESS FOR AKRON KENMORE

them, the Tygers are in splendid condition for Saturday's engagement. "Probably the best they have been in this season," Coach Paul Snyder said.

Fearing a storm of passes, Snyder has worked his charges hard on aerial defense this week, but he has not entirely forgotten the Mansfield air offense.

With Dave Templeton doing most of the throwing, the Tygers presented their most dangerous aerial attack against Sandusky, and Snyder believes it will improve.

Snyder is also attempting to make every Tyger wing and back an adept pass collector. Failure to hold on to the flying pigskins cut down the percentage of completions against Sandusky.

There will be little weight difference Saturday, but Snyder is hoping for a dry field so that the Tygers can mix an assortment of running plays with their passing game Saturday.

Howard Hershey gave a nice ball carrying performance against Sandusky, and Snyder will probably call upon him to shoulder the bigger share of the burden in this department against Kenmore.

Snyder has also spent some time this week in the development of other ball carriers, and has indicated that he has found a couple of prospects who might fill the bill as Hershey's running mates.

Martin Henke is showing improvement as a fullback, and there is little fear that he will fall down on the job Saturday.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

We feel sorry for a certain radio comedian who is reduced to joking about his own jokes. He still doesn't get any laughs.

Peasant costumes are disappearing in Europe. And if this war keeps up long enough—so will the peasant.

Mussolini, apparently, has come to the same conclusion as has many a football fan. It's far more pleasant to watch the scrap from the 50-yard than the scrimmage line.

Steels, Aircrafts Refuse to Advance in Mart Featured by Large Exchange.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Most leading issues moved narrowly ahead in today's stock market, although the steels and aircrafts seemed reluctant to go to higher levels.

A number of large blocks, including one of 13,000 shares, were exchanged.

Favored most of the time were General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, Western Union, Du Pont, Johns-Manville, New York Central and Celanese.

U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Douglas Aircraft and Sperry appeared backward.

Analysts noted the Dow, Jones & Co., estimate that net income after fixed charges of the nation's railroads in September would approximate $36,000,000 compared with earnings of $10,000,000 in August and an indicated net loss for the first nine months of the year of about $38,600,000.

Inasmuch as rail men have figured October net operating income, before fixed charges, may run as much as $100,000,000, the best for the month since 1930, it was thought most of the lines would finish the year in the black.

Dun & Bradstreet reported bank clearings in 22 leading cities for the week ended Oct. 25 exceeded the total for the preceding holiday week, but were 1.4 per cent under the 1938 comparative. A decline of 9 per cent in the New York clearings appeared to account for the dip, as only Chicago, among the cities outside New York, showed a decrease.

U. S. TREASURY BALANCE

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The U. S. Treasury balance on October 24 was: $1,896,710,554.71.

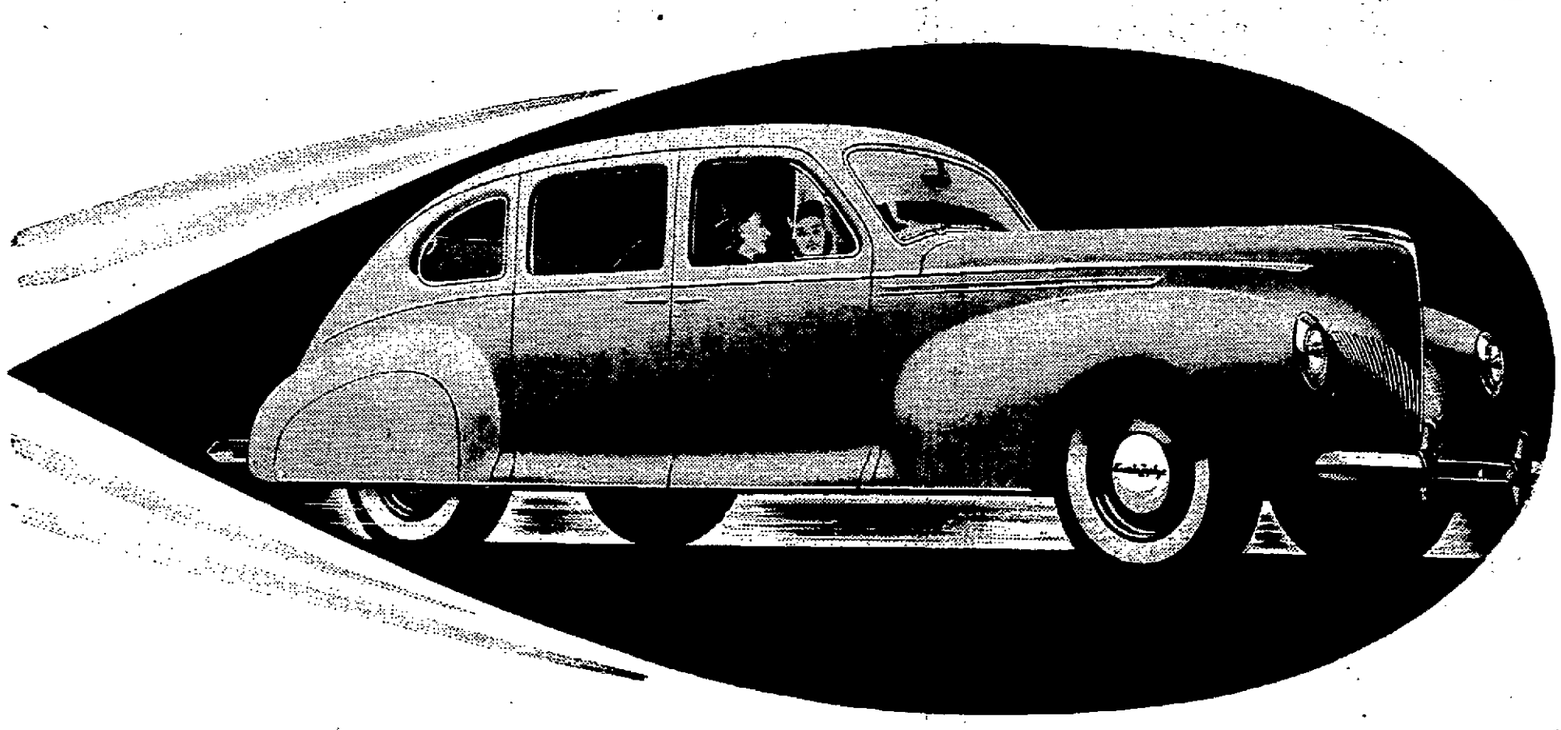
1940 LINCOLN-ZEPHYR V-12


ALWAYS THE STYLE LEADER, NOW GREATER IN SIZE, POWER, BEAUTY!
The Lincoln-Zephyr, always the style leader, is ready with important improvements for 1940. It is a new car, retaining the exclusive combination of features which sets this car apart.
The twelve-cylinder engine—smooth, silent, eager—is increased to 120 horsepower. Yet, because of favorable ratio of horsepower to car weight, the Lincoln-Zephyr's remarkable standards of economy will continue.
The unit-body-and-frame, a rigid, steel, truss-type structure, is still present in all closed types. But it is a new and larger body-frame, with increased head room, leg room and elbow room.
Passengers will see the road and the countryside more clearly, because the Panorama Windshield and deeper windows contain 500 added square inches of glass. The luggage compartment in the Sedan is 30% larger.
The new Lincoln-Zephyr is equipped for even more comfortable travel than ever before . . . with new Controlled Ventilation . . . Finger-Tip Gearshift on the steering post . . . Sealed-Beam Headlamps. Hydraulic brakes assure quick, smooth, effortless stops.
But more important than any single feature is the unique combination of features, at medium price, not found in any other car at any price! They bring pride when you take the wheel and lasting satisfaction in ownership. Lincoln Motor Company, Division of Ford Motor Company.
A COMBINATION OF FEATURES THAT MAKES LINCOLN-ZEPHYR THE ONLY CAR OF ITS KIND
1. Unit-body-and-frame—steel panels welded to steel trusses (in closed types). 2. V-type 12-cylinder engine—smooth, quiet, economical power. 3. High power-to-weight ratio—low center of gravity. 4. Comfort for six, "amidships," chair-high seats—gliding ride—direct entrance—high visibility. 5. Hydraulic brakes. 6. Panorama Windshield and windows.
ON DISPLAY TOMORROW IN THE SHOWROOMS OF LINCOLN-ZEPHYR DEALERS

FINDS OLD COIN

Rhodesia Native Discovers Piece 1,800 Years Old.

SALISBURY, Rhodesia — (U P)— A bronze coin, 1,800 years old, which originated in Northwest India, has been found by a native of Southern Rhodesia

How it got to Rhodesia is a mystery.

The coin was identified by British museum authorities as belonging to the Kusham dynasty of Northwest India. One side of the coin shows the image of Kusham, ruler of Havishka, who flourished about 150 A. D

The coin was bought by a passing motorist from an aged native So far as is known there are no Indians in the district who could have brought the coin in recent years.

A Balanced Budget GATHERS NO Loss

We told a friend the other day, "Figure up all your bills and debts; don't miss any. We'll arrange a small-payment loan for you to cover all your needs... bills, clothes and winter supplies. Later on you can start repaying your loan a little at a time out of each pay check. A few dollars a month will do. And you'll soon find yourself better off than you've been in years."

How does the idea strike you?

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1939.

It might also be kept in mind that Colonel Lindbergh reached the height of popularity by keeping still.

One theory is that European nations are merely living like "one great big family"—and that outsiders shouldn't butt in.

Word comes that the Indians are asking for return of some of the land taken away from them—and soon they may be devising a pension plan.

Bigelow Plan Would Wreck State

OUTSTANDING in importance at the November 7th election, insofar as the future of Ohio is concerned, is the outcome of the voting on Rev. Herbert Bigelow's pension proposal, passage of which would be the most severe blow ever sustained by the people of this state.

In this Bigelow amendment to the constitution it is proposed to do the impossible—to assess an additional $310,000,000 a year in taxes in order to pension approximately 690,000 persons, regardless of their need.

Dependent in large measure on industries and commercial operations, such an increased tax burden as would be required by the Bigelow pension plan would not only keep new industries out of Ohio but would also prevent the continued profitable operation of many businesses that are now providing employment for hundreds of thousands of people.

Nor should it be forgotten that adoption of the absurd Bigelow proposal would wipe out the progress that has already been made in Ohio toward development of a sound pension plan, on the basis of needs, and would end federal co-operation in funding pension requirements, thus throwing the entire burden on the taxpayers of this state.

There is also the element of farmers and many other groups being barred from participation in pension benefits under the Bigelow scheme, leaving the whole thing as an intolerable attempt at class legislation.

A responsibility resting upon those who understand the financial absurdity of the Bigelow proposal is that they give time and effort, between now and election day, to explaining it to other voters who may be misled by glowing promises of visionary promoters.

Coming of the Marine Band

COMING of the United States Marine Band to Mansfield next Sunday for afternoon and evening concerts at Senior high school auditorium, will mark another high spot in musical entertainment for the people of this city and vicinity. Previous evidence of public appreciation, coupled with financial support, encouraged the Mansfield Junior Association of Commerce to contract for the appearance of the Marine Band here—the only Ohio stop on the present tour of this oldest of the nation's military bands.

Worthy of thought is that such a military organization as this can be devoting its activities to the field of entertainment and cultural advancement, rather than using its talents to provide the inspiration needed by warring armies, as is now being required of military bands in European countries.

The privilege of hearing the U. S. Marine Band at least once in a lifetime should be accorded every American citizen for it furnishes a phase of patriotic education which can scarcely be overestimated and which becomes a pleasant recollection through later years.

For many Mansfield young people, for instance, this Sunday, October 29 will be long recalled as the date on which they heard the Marine Band at the Mansfield Senior high school auditorium. It is one of those rare occasions which should not be missed.

Some Real Prison Needs

NEW YORK CITY has a new penitentiary on Rikers Island which has cost taxpayers some millions of dollars. The president of the American Prison association admits that its physical equipment is fine, but adds that the city would derive greater dividends in the form of rehabilitated prisoners if more money had gone into personnel and less into structural steel.

"You can get money fairly easily for new prisons and prison buildings," he says, "especially if a timely riot gives dramatic emphasis to the problem of overcrowding; but try to get money for a doctor or a psychologist, for a social worker or a vocational instructor, and you will find that the state is very short of funds."

That situation is not peculiar to New York. Yet serious students of crime and penology have come to believe that the doctor, the psychologist, the social worker, the vocational instructor, the specially trained guard, are among the greatest needs of our prisons, for the benefit of society as a whole quite as much as for the benefit of prisoners.

Gold For Latin-America

OUR GOVERNMENT last spring agreed to lend Brazil $50,000,000 in gold to set up a central banking system modeled on our own. Lately there is talk at Washington of making similar but smaller loans for the same purpose to some of the other South American countries.

There is said to be a shortage of "United States dollars" in Latin-America, limiting purchasing power and the market for our goods. It is felt that aid from Washington in establishing adequate gold reserves in the treasuries of various southern republics would result in business revival there, and more business with Uncle Sam, operating in both directions.

This is a matter for experts; but offhand, it looks like a possibly fruitful use for some of the 17 billions of gold now lying unproductively in the United States treasury. Apparently there is still magic gold.

Desirable Highway

THE PROPOSED Mississippi Scenic highway appeals to the imagination. It would start at Lake Itasca, Minn., source of the Mississippi river, and follow the Father of Waters to the Gulf of Mexico. Plans call for a modern road 2,000 miles long, bordered by a fine parkway. States along the route would be expected to contribute right-of-way and to share in construction and maintenance expenses. The total cost is estimated as $500,000,000.

Such a highway would have both scenic and historic charm, in addition to its usefulness. It would link busy cities, a number of state parks and varied rural regions and climates.

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—For the benefit of ourselves and 3,000 others, the army demonstrated its latest fighting gadgets to such telling effect that we are convinced that in war there is simply no place where a man can be comfortable or safe.

One plane dropped three dozen or more small bombs all in a row, the way you sow radish seed. Strewn along a road they would have wiped out a regiment.

One big bomber, from high up, dropped a 2,000-pound bomb. It is the biggest the army uses as a regular thing, although it has some 4,000-pound jobs—heavy as a cadillac—in reserve. The one-ton item burst a mile from where we lay hidden behind some low bushes. It smashed up the air so badly that fragments of the noise reached us like a burst of machine gun fire before the shuddering "boom" closed in on us.

It threw dirt and brush 300 feet in the air and lifted out a cone of earth into which you could have placed a two-story house. We were told that medium artillery can shell a heavy concrete bridge all day without wrecking it, but one of those 2,000-pound airplane eggs nestling into it will take out a whole section.

Where bombs fall there is no peace.

Planes Are as Bad.

BUT with anti-aircraft artillery busy on the ground, there is no peace for the planes from which the bombs fall.

A nastier sight we never have seen than the way the muzzles of those anti-aircraft guns follow a plane across the sky. It is like nothing so much as the way a snake, with head uplifted, eyes a bird. Observing instruments spread over the ground in a wide triangular formation focus on the plane. The cumulative result of their "seeing eyes" is communicated to a central sighting mechanism which looks like the upper half of an iceless refrigerator, heavily studded with dials.

This mechanism digests the information and, together with data which may be supplied from other observers, transmits it to a dial on the gun. The gunners simply keep a sort of pointer on the gun following the sighting dial, and the muzzle creeps across the sky, spitting three-inch shells at the rate of one every two seconds. From then on the clear-blue air about the plane is a thick mixture of flying shell fragments. Three targets towed across the sky in simulation of an enemy airplane were shredded by shell fire.

In turn, two tanks, armed with machine guns and small cannon, bounded across the ditchy field pouring a silvery chain of bullets into two structures put up to look like machine gun "pill boxes." There is no peace in pill-boxes.

Tanks Are as Bad.

YET, on the other hand, when a tank, remotely controlled, was started across the field, a cluster of anti-tank guns cut loose at it. These guns, the army's newest weapon, shoot a two-pound slug about the size of three-golf balls laid end to end—if you get what we mean.

The bullet's tail is phosphorescent so that it sails through the air like a red-hot shot, easy for the gunner to follow. In the core of the shell is a bursting charge of powder. The thing will smash through an inch and a half armor plate, then burst like a rocket.

That happened to the tank. Fiery shot raced across the field, glowing like oranges. One of the first shots fired stopped the tank and another piled into its gasoline tank setting it afire. So there is no peace in tanks.

As a final burst, we saw a 16-inch coast defense gun hurl a 2,100-pound shell across the countryside. We inspected 14 - inch ships armor—heavier than that worn by the ill-fated British battleship Royal Oak. Sixteen-inch shells had bored a hole through it as easily as you would poke a pencil through a pancake. So there is no peace in battleships.

Then we remembered that our newest battleships will shoot nine of these 2,100 - pound shells at a single volley. So there is no peace in a coast defense turret.

OUR OWN MAGINOT LINE

Firth of Forth and Scapa Flow

THE Firth of Forth and Scapa Flow where German air raiders made their first attacks on the British Isles in the European war are about 500 and 550 miles, respectively, from the German North Sea coast, according to a special war bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"The Firth of Forth, the estuary of the Forth river, is a wide indentation in the eastern coast of Scotland, its shore-line generously flecked with busy cities and quiet towns, many of which are linked by rail or highway with Edinburgh, most important of the cities in this region," continues the bulletin. "At its mouth it is 12½ miles wide, at Edinburgh five miles.

Bridge Is Target.

"The Firth bridge which is reported to have been one of the main objectives of destructive German aerial bombs is a steel three-span structure more than a mile and a half long which cost more than $10,000,000. It was under construction for seven years and was completed in 1890. The bridge spans the Firth of Forth about 25 miles from its mouth at the North Sea and about seven miles inland from Edinburgh.

"Edinburgh, in whose streets residents are reported to have picked up pieces of shrapnel, is on the south shore of the Firth of Forth. Capital of Scotland, with a population of 439,000, it is a lure to enemy attack. It is called the 'Athens of Scotland' because of its numerous educational institutions, museums, art galleries and libraries.

"The city is important as a trading place for the surrounding country and shipping point for wool, in the raw and in the form of cloth. Great banks and insurance companies make it an important financial center of Scotland. Printing, brewing and textile weaving are among its leading industries.

"Dominating the city is Castle Rock, crowned by a once impregnable fortress but now of little military value. In fact it is a splendid target for airmen. On the Rock, James I of England was born. The city grew around the lofty Rock and today its heights affords a guidepost for those tourists trapped in labyrinthine Edinburgh streets.

Scapa Flow.

"Scapa Flow, reported the scene of the sinking of the British battleship Royal Oak and the damaging of the Iron Duke, both famous World war sea fighters, is a broad bay on the south side of the Orkney islands just north of Scotland.

"The bay, fifty square miles in area, is entirely surrounded by islands lying so close that none of its numerous entrances between the islands is wider than three miles. It has been considered one of the world's safest anchorages.

"Scapa Flow came into the spotlight of the World war when it was the main base of the British Grand Fleet. It was there that the German fleet surrendered to the British in November, 1918, and was scuttled by its German crews, June 21, 1919.

"Both the Royal Oak and the Iron Duke took part in the battle of Jutland. The latter was the flagship of Admiral Jellico."

Listen, World!

The Lost Boy.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

HE'S BEEN A LOST BOY for over forty years! He doesn't realize it. He'd laugh it off sheepishly—perhaps a bit irritably—if you told him so. And, looking at his solid, handsome maturity, thinking of his business and fine family, the notion does seem fantastic. Yet it's true. He's been lost as surely all these years, as he was that time he strayed away from camp as a baby and come stumbling back at night, a torn and tear-stained little tyke, so frightened he couldn't even call his mother's name when he found her, but could only clutch and sob.

I've said he doesn't realize it. But he has known vaguely that something was wrong. Not that he ever thought about it much—he's been too busy working, getting ahead. But always—behind all the rush and risk, the fever and fury—there's been a strange feeling of something wrong, something missing.

Yet what could he have missed? He's had everything a man could wish—a beautiful wife, three grand youngsters, a splendid home—travel, excitement, success. You'd think—wouldn't you—that any man would be content with that. And it has never occurred to him that he wasn't content. In fact, he's taken it for granted that he was. And yet, whenever he's really stopped and thought about it all, there's that sense of something missing — something lost.

As if he'd never found exactly what he wanted . . . had gotten off somehow on the wrong trail and couldn't get back on the right one, and has gone wandering down through the years, calling, calling . . .

It hits him oftenest at twilight. When he stands for a moment in his empty office—looking far down at the tangled, glittering streets with their dark tides of people going on. Going where? Then for an instant it will seep over him . . . that sense of strangeness and discontent . . .

And he'll wonder. Are other men like that? Do they feel as if they'd lost their way, too? Is no one ever really happy or contented? Or is it something special in himself, some lack in his particular nature? . . . Is it? . . . Then he'll frown—throw his shoulders back—go down to his waiting car and is whirled away.

Do you know him—that man who goes looking, looking . . . calling, calling? It's a 100-to-1 shot that you do. Perhaps you're that man yourself. Most of us are—little lost children in grown-up bodies . . . children who can't find the home they left around the bend in the trail . . . Life meant us to leave that home naturally, without shock or scar . . . to outgrow it as we outgrow our baby bodies.

But something happens. Perhaps the break comes too early in our lives. Perhaps the new trail is so hard that we can't force our spirits to take it, even though our bodies plod its weary miles. Or perhaps the old home was too clingingly dear . . . so close about our hearts that we could never shake it off.

WHATEVER THE REASON, OUR MINDS REFUSE TO LET GO. WE BECOME GROWN MEN AND WOMEN IN OUR FLESH . . . WE HAVE CHILDREN, CAREERS, MULTIFOLD INTERESTS, BUT NONE OF THEM EVER BRINGS US CONTENT. FOR WE'RE ALWAYS LOOKING FOR A PLACE WE'VE LOST . . . A FACE WE'VE LEFT BEHIND. AND WE NEVER QUITE BELONG TO THE WORLD IN WHICH WE LIVE OR TO THE PEOPLE WITH WHOM WE'VE CAST OUR LOT.

A lost child, calling . . . calling . . . for the home it has never left, yet will never see again!

There's no greater tragedy on earth!

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—For a long time Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace hopefully has preened himself as a promising presidential candidate. What Franklin Roosevelt privately thinks of him in that light was disclosed to Senator Guy Gillette when the Iowan went to the White House to discuss neutrality.

As Gillette rose to go, the president observed that he had been thinking about Iowa's delegation to the convention next year, and it seemed to him that the wisest course would be to have it go uninstructed.

Gillette, who has publicly declared himself against a third term, did not rise to the broad hint. Quietly but firmly he demurred:

"I'm not so sure about that, Mr. President. I've always felt that the Iowa delegation ought to be instructed for Henry Wallace."

"Henry is a grand person, a grand person," Roosevelt replied. "There is no question about that, and no one is fonder of him than I am. But you know as well as I do, Guy, that Henry just hasn't got 'It'."

Gillette admitted this, but persisted in his stand. But after further discussion, during which Roosevelt repeated his contention that Wallace lacked political oomph, Gillette did give a little ground.

"Perhaps," he conceded, "the delegation shouldn't be pledged wholly to Henry. But I do think it should be at least instructed to the extent of giving him a complimentary ballot or two."

Deaver also refused to order the company to make restitution to the underpaid workers . . . He will be interviewed over the radio by Dr. Maurice S. Sheehy of Catholic university . . . * * *

Industrial Preparation.

THE semi-dictatorial super-government the army has devised to run the country in case of war, still is only a paper plan. Congressional action is necessary to put it into effect.

Meanwhile one key feature of the plan already has been set in motion—with full congressional approval. This is the groundwork for mobilizing the nation's industry for war production. Few, except insiders, realize the extent of these preparations.

Today, more than 10,000 plants have secret orders for military products, and another 10,000 are being surveyed for the same purpose. In addition, the War department has an index of thousands of other factories that could be used in a pinch.

To insure maximum speed and efficiency, the army has decentralized its procurement machine into twelve "concentration centers" in strategic cities — New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Hartford, Conn., Schenectady, N. Y., Cincinnati, Bethlehem, Pa., Atlanta, Birmingham, Chicago, San Francisco, and Seattle. These centers are under the command of picked army officers whose special job it is to be minutely acquainted with the "war load" of every factory. To do this they maintain a close check on the inventories, financial status and equipment of each firm.

Ten Billion Dollars.

AN IDEA of the scope of military production is given by the fact that some 70,000 separate items are required to put a wartime army in the field. Of these 70,000, about 3,700 items are not normally made by private concerns, while 55 items are totally unavailable. That is, they cannot be profitably produced.

To overcome this obstacle, congress voted the army $16,500,000 to subsidize plants with "educational orders," and last year $2,500,000 was spent for this purpose.

The total of war orders in the safes of the 10,000 plants constituting the army's "first line" of industrial mobilization is a military secret. But it can be stated definitely that the orders total not less than $10,000,000,000.

In other words, ten billion dollars would be the minimum industrial cost of a major war in the first year.

Ploughs Into Swords.

TOUGHEST problem facing the army was how to convert ordinary plant equipment into machinery for military production. Here is how it was worked out:

Factories making farm implements will produce shells, combat wagons and gun carriages.

Factories making boats will make pontoon bridges; adding machine factories will make automatic pistols; vacuum cleaner factories will turn to gas masks; printing presses to howitzer parts; and automobile plants will make machine guns, tanks, airplanes, and motors of all kinds.

Finally, factories making rails, wire products, pipe fittings and pipe will produce shells, hand grenades, bombs and torpedoes.

Timely Editorial

Watch Those Census Takers!

As might have been expected, the new dealers are getting away with the thousands of jobs that will be available in taking the census next year. The census takers being lined up are said to be loyal "even to the extent of favoring a third term."

Naturally members of Congress who have been left out of this patronage don't like it and are determined to do something about it. They should and maybe they can. If they don't get any further they should have it plainly understood that census enumerators are not to ask people how they are going to vote or distribute new deal literature on their rounds to homes and places of business. That should hold 'em—as far as it goes.—Kansas City Times.

Flight of Wild Geese

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

ALL during this late October day, the wind blew hard and cold. The scarlet and bronze and gold of the neighboring woods became tattered and worn by the tempest from the north. Stray dry blades of corn sailed through the air and drifted to the southern border of the wood. Toward evening the wind began to lay, and by sundown not a twig or blade of grass was stirring.

At dusk I saw my neighbor just across the rise, look toward the eastern sky and point excitedly. Far off above the horizon, small dark specks, in V formation, were moving slowly toward us. I listened. A faint, muffled honking came through the clear, cold air. The flock of wild geese winged high above our house, and the din of voices was like a medley from the skies. I counted 40 flying proudly southwest, straight into the afterglow of sunset. I heard their voices long after the abyss of heaven had swallowed the lonely tribe.

I wondered how long ago some large, decisive general had felt the migration urge and enlisted his regiment to follow him away from frozen northern streams to warmer southern marshes. Or perhaps it was some militant female, whose age and social standing had made her a wise old goose for the rest to follow. At any rate statistics show that, among wild geese, the females very often lead the flock.

"My wife and I were husking corn yesterday," my neighbor said, "when we saw three flocks go over at once. Such honking you never heard. I don't believe it would be a lie to say—you can ask my wife if what I say ain't true—if they'd all been in one line they'd have stretched a mile. I never saw geese fly so early and so many as this year."

"What do you think is the reason?" I inquired.

"I heard an old hunter say, who's came back from Canada, that there was the biggest hatch of ducks and geese this year he'd ever seen. Some way, their natural enemies didn't kill them off, as usual, during hatching season. He said large flocks will keep goin' over for some time, and southern marshes will show more life this year than ever before in our lifetime."

RUSSIA GIVES AMERICAN SHIP TO NAZI CREW

City of Flint Goes Back to Custody of German Seamen Who Captured Her.

diction of the German prize court at Hamburg.

Through the incident, it was emphasized, Germany has abided rigorously by the precepts of international law, including those governing halt and search on the high seas.

It was authoritatively indicated that the Nazi pocket battleship Deutschland was the vessel which captured the City of Flint. German quarters cited this as proof of Germany's successful operations on the high seas despite the British blockade and the overwhelming superiority of British naval tonnage.

While no one would predict the ultimate fate of Captain Gainard and his crew, it was emphasized in Berlin that all the Americans are safe and presumably well.

Washington Silent On Russian Action.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Both the White House and the state department maintained official silence today on the Berlin report that the American freighter, City of Flint, had been turned over to Germany by the Soviet Union.

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early said that the only information the White House had was contained in press reports and that nothing could be said until official word could be received through diplomatic channels. The state department took the same position.

The state department did, however, announce earlier that the American ambassador to Moscow, Laurence Steinhardt, had cabled that Captain Joseph A. Gainard and the 41 members of the vessels' crew were safe aboard the ship in the Rusisan port of Murmansk.

Finns Return, See New Red Obstacle.

(By United Press)

HELSINGFORS, Finland—The Finnish mission returned today from Moscow with undisclosed but written Russian demands which were said to contain serious obstacles to further negotiations.

J. K. Paasikivi and V. A. Tanner, heads of the mission, conferred with President Kyosti Kallio and Foreign Minister Eljas Erkkos immediately upon their return and although the nature of the demands remained a guarded secret, a foreign spokesman remarked, "There are certain points on which Finland cannot yield."

The one point Finland has stressed in the negotiations instigated by Russia is that its integrity must be preserved and it will under no conditions accept a military alliance with Russia.

It was announced that the negotiations would be continued and that Paasikivi would return to Moscow after receiving new instructions from the government. It was assumed that he and Tanner had given a detailed account of their long session with Josef Stalin and V. M. Molotov, the Soviet premier and foreign minister at the Kremlin this week, in addition to submitting a written copy of the demands.

It was not disclosed whether the cabinet would be called today to study the demands. Finns still hope for a peaceful settlement of the Russian question but the optimism was less marked today.

The Finnish public, lacking any authoritative information but clinging to hopes of a peaceful solution of the Russian question, believed that Russia probably had offered to affirm the status quo of the Aaland Islands, between Finland and Sweden, and that Finland would give or lease to Russia three small islands in the Gulf of Finland dominating Kronstadt, the Russian naval base, and Leningrad.

They believed that the Russian-Finnish border on the Carelian isthmus could be adjusted without difficulty, with Russia getting certain Finnish areas considered important for the safety of Leningrad and perhaps ceding some Russian territory elsewhere to Finland in payment.

ASHLAND—A tall blond, Miss Jeanette Echelberger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Echelberger of Ashland, will be the guest of honor at the annual homecoming ceremonies which are scheduled to start at Ashland college Saturday at 9:30 a. m.

Elected by the members of the football squad, Miss Echelberger will reign in splendor all day long. She will be assisted by two attendants, Miss Henrietta Pete, a junior and Miss Mary Vanosdall, a senior, both of Ashland.

The program for the day begins with a special series of classes for the "grads," where Dr. Raymond Bixler and Dr. V. A. Long will speak, just as in the old days, about matters from books, only the students will not be called upon to recite.

At 10 a. m. there has been scheduled a special chapel service in "Old Founder's Hall" where greetings will be heard from Dr. Paul Kellogg, president of the Ashland College Alumni association, and where Dr. R. R. Haun, dean, will be the main speaker.

In the afternoon, the queen will pour at tea, assisted by her attendants at a function in the girls' dormitory, Allen hall. Then there will be the football game between Ashland college and Otterbein, after which present and past members of the Scribes honorary literary society will hold a banquet at the Hotel Otter.

At 6 p. m. there will be a banquet by the "lettermen" of the college and at 8 p. m. in McDowell auditorium will be presented the annual homecoming play, "Our Town," directed by Miss Thelma Slack.

Sunday morning, there will be held special services at the Park Street Brethren church, where Prof. E. G. Mason, president of the college, will give the main address.

FINED IN SHELBY

SHELBY — Pleading guilty to violation of regulations of the Public Utilities commission by failing to have P. U. C. O. signs on his truck and a log sheet, Ross J. Moorehead, 386 Mulberry street, Mansfield, was fined $25 and costs in Mayor D. B. Young's court Wednesday.

Moorehead, who is a driver for the L. C. Dearman Trucking company of Mansfield, was arrested by Patrolman Frank Cline earlier in the week.

SEEK EMBARGO STRENGTH TEST

Opponents of Arms Sales to Offer New Amendment When Vote Comes Tomorrow.

his embargo-retention proposal after all other amendments were disposed of. The time was uncertain, for a fresh flood of amendments slowed up floor action yesterday.

Among the pending amendments was one by Senator Tobey (R-NH) to make it unlawful for any foreign vessel to fly the American flag in order to escape submarines or for any other purpose. Violators would have to forfeit the vessel and cargo, and the master would be subject to a $20,000 fine and two years' imprisonment.

The proposal was debated yesterday, but there was disagreement over the penalties. Administration forces were willing to accept the amendment with some revision.

With senate passage of the bill repealing the embargo and providing a "cash and carry" system of trading with belligerents regarded as a foregone conclusion, interest was turning to the house, where embargo advocates hoped for a better chance of victory.

Preliminary conferences were under way between Republican and Democratic leaders as to the length of house debate. There were indications that administration chieftains would try to put through parliamentary rules which would prevent amendments to the senate bill

WAR CREATES NEW STYLES; BRITISH WOMAN BAR FRILLS

LONDON—(U P)—The war has already killed the bustle and the crinoline and all the eccentricities of dress that marched in their wake.

These may be revived later when the men returning from the front demand that women shall be 100 per cent feminine, but for the moment the whole trend of dress is to be "sensible." Subdued colors, outfits that match up with khaki uniforms, high collars and long sleeves (even for evening frocks) have replaced the frills and flounces of the last few months.

For the hour of the raid has been designed the "air raid siren suit"—a form of super workman's overall combining slacks and tunic. Step into it, zip it up and you can hop out of bed and remain in cold and drafty places looking smart.

Woolly Material Used.

The suits are made in warm woolly material and are becoming So much so that women will wear them for gardening or upon any excuse long after war has done away with their necessity

Following the "siren suit" comes the "gas costume" made of colored oil silk, combining trousers, tunic and bonnet carried in a small flat envelope. It can be slipped on in the street over the clothes and in two minutes its wearer is a presentable imitation of an auxiliary fireman in his decontamination outfit.

Naturally the hairdresser must have a say in the fashions of war, so the "gas mask curl" has been introduced The hair is dressed flat on top and the curls bunched out each side, allowing the gas mask to be slipped on and off and the waves and curls left undisturbed.

Glasgow is realizing that there is a war, for drinking hours there have been severely curtailed. Only between 11:30 a. m. and 2:30 p. m. and between 5 and 8 p. m. can victory be celebrated or blackout depression defied.

Profiteering is occurring on both a large and small scale. Sandbag retailers have almost doubled their prices. Fiber for making mattresses has skyrocketed—and with the vast evacuation schemes thousands of mattresses are needed.

Blackout material of any description poured money into the profitee's pocket even before war begun

One hotel manager had a really novel idea He decided that as his guests would share the sense of security provided by the blackout, they should have the pleasure of sharing the cost, so each visitor's bill bore an extra item "To cost of blackout 2-6d"

White Hose Scorned.

Girls have been advised to wear white stockings during the blackout so that they may be seen in the dark. This advice undoubtedly emanates from some worthy person with little knowledge of feminine psychology, for the average girl would much sooner take a chance on being run over than parade in white stockings.

The sudden increase in crime which was expected as a result of the blackout has not materialized. Crime of the more petty kind is too risky and too unprofitable.

Patrolling the streets are thousands of air raid wardens on the alert for any suspicious sounds and the normal police force has been increased by 2,000 special constables, 4,000 police war reservists, and 1,000 recalled police pensioners.

JURY RECESSES

Convenes 4 Times in 2 Weeks Without Deciding a Case.

After convening four times in the past two weeks without deciding a case, the county petit jury recessed yesterday until Nov 13.

The jurors reconvened yesterday morning to hear a $1,953 judgment case, but the matter was settled out of court before any testimony was taken.

In the case, George J. Moyer sought a judgment on a claim for compensation for personal services against N. H Heston as an executor. Terms of the settlement were not made public Atty C. J. Kalbfleisch represented Moyer and Atty J. M Reed was counsel for Heston.

There were eight cases on the docket for trial before the jury this week, but all of them were settled or continued The jurors, who started the September court term recently, have not heard a case.

NAVY MAN FIRST IN AIR COMBAT

Air Base Commander Piloted Plane Hit by Bullets in Mexico in 1914.

NORFOLK, Ca.— (UP) —Capt. Patrick N. L. Bellinger, commanding officer of the U. S. Naval air station here, piloted the first airplane struck by bullets in combat.

While flying at a low altitude over Vera Cruz during the Mexican trouble in 1914, Bellinger's Curtiss pusher seaplane was hit by bullets fired by ground troops.

Bellinger also is believed to be the first aviator to attack enemy soldiers from the air, even though the "bomb" he dropped was a cake of soap. Bellinger became angry when ground troops fired at his ship and he threw at them the first thing he could lay his hands on—a cake of soap.

The incident involving his plane when he first was shot at is mentioned in a recently published book, "Navy Men," by James Connolly, an old shipmate of Bellinger.

It was not until Bellinger had landed that he realized what a close call he had. Examination of the ship revealed three holes, bored by bullets in the fuselage of the plane.

The purpose of Bellinger's hops over Mexico were for observation.

Flying a plane in those days was a tough job. The old seaplane he flew had a top speed of about 60 miles an hour and its ceiling was about 1,000 feet.

Fighting back was almost out of the question. Keeping the plane in the air required all the pilot's time.

Many descendants of the old pusher type seaplane now are under Bellinger's command. But these craft, with their incredible speed, remarkable maneuverability and bristling guns, bear little resemblance to their ancestors.

PROFITS GO UP

Westinghouse Lists 11 Million for Year Ending Sept. 30.

Net profits of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company and its subsidiaries for the year ending Sept. 30 totaled $11,909,761, equivalent to $4.46 a share on the combined 7 per cent preferred and $50-par common stock, company officials announced today.

The firm's profits were approximately $2,300,000 ahead of the preceding year's figures when $3.60 a share was paid on combined preferred and common stock.

A. W. Robertson, chairman of the board, said business "is considerably better now than it was last year or any other year since the beginning of the depression except for a short spurt in 1937."

Unfilled orders on Sept. 30 had jumped to $58,337,790 from $48,817,402 last year.

BEATS WOMEN

Ore Shoveler Wins Title as Champ Crocheter.

MIDVALE, Utah — (U.P.) — Utah crowned a new crochet and embroidery champion at the state fair—a "mucker" in the Midvale smelter.

The new champion is Frank Mortensen of Midvale, whose cross-stitches and needle work made feminine entries in the sewing competition envious.

Mortensen works as a "mucker"—a man who shovels ore—in the day time. At night he follows his hobby of making fine embroidery and crochet work.

The burly smelter worker won the title when he emerged victorious in each of three divisions for embroidery and crochet work. At the state fair he was awarded first place honors for the best crocheted luncheon set in the table linens division and another first place for the best doilies in the miscellaneous section.

Mortensen says, "I'm proud of the work I do in the fairer sex's field."

OHIO PEN LAUNCHES PROGRAM TO SALVAGE 'BROKEN LIVES'

COLUMBUS—A vast program to salvage broken lives is being launched at Ohio penitentiary.

While each of the prison's 4,000 inmates will be embraced in the plan, Warden Frank D. Henderson said that he planned to concentrate on that 90 per cent which eventually will be returned to society.

"The program," Henderson explained, "is for the purpose of improving employment opportunities, giving additional education to those deficient in education, and increasing the number of inmates who may be reasonably expected to respond to rehabilitation measures."

It will revolve around a system of classification, the warden said. A committee of nine staff members was appointed to begin an immediate check of each prisoner and each new man received.

The committee then will recommend corrective measures in each case and these will be taken as the program gradually unfolds. Immediate consideration, Henderson said, included:

Identification data and custody and discipline (whether maximum, close, medium or minimum custody recommended); transfer to another institution, (such as the brick plant at Junction City or the London honor farm); medical and surgical treatment; psychiatric treatment; education and recreation; employment recommended and religious training recommended.

"While many men are sent to the penitentiary for punishment," Henderson said, "they also should be reformed for the benefit of society and not become 'repeaters'."

HOLDS TEAR GAS

Book in Library Found to Be Reason for Tears.

CONNEAUT—(UP)—The mystery of the tears has been solved and now the members of the Carnegie library are dry-eyed and happy.

Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor, presiding at the desk, couldn't understand why she cried.

Mrs. B. C. Edes, who relieved her, couldn't understand her own tears.

The librarian, Marie Brown, with tears flowing freely, decided to investigate. Then they found the cause. Tear gas was found concealed in a book.

The book had been returned from a Conneaut theater and apparently had been in a safe, from which the gas had escaped during a recent robbery attempt.

The book received an airing.

KISS YOUR TIRED FEELING GOODBYE
Peplessness Many Suffer Low Blood Count—And Don't Know It.

The baffling thing about low blood count is that you can weigh about as much as you ever did — even look healthy and strong, yet — you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, dopey, tired and perplexed.

Low blood count means you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car and make the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.

Get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. They are world-famous for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles. Then with your blood count up, you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams Pink Pills today.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Phone Operator Sings It on Average of 30 Times Daily.

DETROIT.—(U.P.)—The recipients may be upset, but Mrs. Betty Irwin certainly isn't when she sings "Happy Birthday to You" over the telephone. She simply considers it part of her job with a telegraph company here and is even gratified to hear numerous compliments on her voice.

Mrs. Irwin sings "Happy Birthday" an average of 30 times a day, and on occasion she will alter her repertoire to sing "Happy Anniversary to You" (to the same tune) and "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow." But under no circumstances will she sing any other song, popular or classical. It's just one of the rules.

This picture-taking business must be a snap, conclude two rare crested cockatoos from Australia, brought to Los Angeles for an appearance at the 14th annual Great Western Livestock show Oct. 28-Nov. 3.

THEATERS

AFTER gauging the response of movie goers to the old Keystone Kops scene in "Hollywood Cavalcade," Darryl Zanuck has decided—as many spectators did—that what the country needs is more Keystone Kop comedies. As a result the big movie tycoon has signed up Mack Sennett, the man who originated the "belly-laugh" pictures years ago and who has been forgotten for a long time. Sennett made his appearance on the screen for the first time in years in "Hollywood Cavalcade." The new type of Sennett comedies will be much more ambitious than the early silent films. The first one has already been planned and titled. It will be "Left at the Altar" or "Love In a Pullman Car."

Stage Show Today.

Political intrigue, joining the natives of the Amazon jungle with the high finance of the rubber companies, is the basic plot of "Tropic Fury," the screen drama which will be shown at the Madison on Friday only. Richard Arlen and Beverly Roberts, with Andy Devine for comedy, head the cast. Today the Madison is presenting on its stage the Boone County folks from WLW, with all of the air lane favorites, including Lazy Jim Day, Helen Diller, the Pioneers and Denny, Kenny Carlson, and the Kentucky Girls, Alma and Jo.

U. of C. Football Heroes.

A special treat for sports fans will be found in "Hero for a Day," which the Ohio shows on Friday for that day only. The college drama, with Dick Foran and Anita Louise carrying the romantic theme, has the entire football team of the University of California at Los Angeles, taken as they thrilled spectators at the Los Angeles field. The story deals with a great football hero of 30 years ago who seeks to save a strong-willed college favorite today from impending disaster.

"Cowboy Quarterback."

Biy-eyed Marie Wilson, of the blond locks and dumb looks is a natural for Bert Wheeler, and the two are starred in "Cowboy Quarterback," a Ritz attraction for Friday and Saturday. It's a college comedy with one of the boys from the west making the college team. "Under Cover Man" brings Johnny Mack Brown to that theater, with a determination to clean up the cattle country, even if he has to kill every bad man in it.

Sabu In "Drums."

Alexander Korda's spectacular "Drums" is presented at the Majestic on Friday and Saturday. This English-made film depicts the activities of the British army in India during an uprising of the natives. Sabu, the native Indian boy whom Korda had befriended, is seen in the film as the young Prinze Azim, orphaned by the uprising. "Timber Stampede," a western, has George O'Brien and Marjorie Reynolds.

But Always Loses.

It is the part of Leo Carrillo to fight for the girl and then to lose her in the end to a "more better" and handsomer man, and there is no exception to this rule in "The Girl and the Gambler," at the Park theater. Carrillo plays a gay, rascally fellow who fights for the dancer, Steffi Duna, only to lose her to an American, played by Tim Holt. Gene Autry, whose popularity gains impetus with each picture, is the hero of "Git Along Little Dogies," also at the Park.

House Members In Clash Over Dies 'Communist List'

HEAR DEMANDS TO OUST 563 U.S. EMPLOYES

Opponents Deny League for Peace, Democracy Works for 'Red Front' Group.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—House Members split into warring factions today in a battle over demands for ousting 563 government employes listed by the Dies committee on rolls of the American League for Peace and Democracy, branded by the group as a "Communist front" organization.

Rep. Noah Mason (R) Illinois, member of the committee and a persistent foe of the league, demanded that the government employes, many of whom denied they were league members, either be forced to resign from the organization or lose their jobs.

House "progressive bloc" members leaped to defense of the group and denied the league is Communistic. They charged the Dies committee with efforts to intimidate the government officials and employes and destroy their civil liberties.

The list of government employes, first announced as a "membership and mailing list," was said by Dies committee members to actually be a membership roll.

Rep. Coffee (D) Washington, leader of the "progressive bloc," however, asserted the list is inaccurate. Rep. Dempsey (D) New Mexico, Dies committee member, declared the list included non-members who merely had contributed to certain causes, such as relief of the Spanish people.

Some government employes whose names appeared on the list expressed surprise when it was made public at a committee hearing.

A scheduled hearing of the Dies committee for today was called off by the committee.

Capacity Crowds Assured For Two Marine Concerts

Two "sell-out" houses for the Marine band concerts Sunday in Senior high school auditorium were virtually assured today as sponsoring Junior Association of Commerce members reported that tickets for the entertainments are almost gone.

Tickets for the afternoon and evening concerts have been on sale for nearly a month at a number of places in Mansfield and in neighboring cities.

There is widespread interest in the band's appearance here, J. A. C. officers said, since Mansfield is the only Ohio city it will visit on a tour of 42 cities in the midwest and south.

The high school auditorium here is also said to be the smallest in which the band will play on its tour.

Woman Bolts as Marriage Clerk Asks Her to Raise Hand.

BEAVER, Pa.—(AP)—The bride-to-be who came to the courthouse with her husband-to-be used her woman's prerogative to change her mind just in the nick of time.

They signed their names to a marriage license application, and Clerk Hazel Kennedy asked them to raise their right hands and be sworn.

The bride-to-be bolted from the room and disappeared into a crowd.

The car's brakes slipped, and it shot down the hill, jumped a curb and smashed into a filling station, starting a fire.

Fox dashed after the machine, rescued it from the flames and reparked it. Then he straightened his tie and rejoined the wedding march.

GERMANS LOSE 3,000--FRANCE

And Berlin Declares Britain Fails to Tell Whole Truth About Sea Losses.

grand German offensive this autumn increasingly remote.

French communique No. 105 announced: "The night was quiet on the whole. Bad weather prevailed."

The sole activity reported overnight consisted of feints by patrols on both sides of the front.

German forces continued their minor thrusts in attempts to feel out weak spots in the French lines.

Ready response by mortars, field artillery, and machine guns, according to French authorities showed the Germans that no such vulnerable points existed.

Nazis Claim British Don't Reveal All.

BERLIN — (AP) — A German spokesman hinted today that Great Britain was not telling the whole story of the cost in British tonnage of the bitter war at sea.

German submarines, warplanes and surface raiders almost daily are challenging British supremacy on the seas with British sunken shipping calculated in the hundreds of thousands of tons.

But the German admiralty and propaganda ministry, for the time being, are giving no precise figures on the accomplishments of Nazi sea raiders.

"Our sailors and aviators are out there, at Scapa Flow, in the North sea and in the east Atlantic, making a good account of themselves," a propaganda ministry spokesman said.

"But the whole story cannot be told now and for actual German accomplishments at sea, the world, for the time being, must be content with the understated admissions of the British admiralty."

Raiding at sea is the German answer to British efforts to blockade Germany, it was said in official quarters, and the raiding policy is being guided by Britain's conduct of her blockade.

Any cargoes in British ships which the British would hold up if they were destined for Germany are regarded as fair game for the German raiders.

"We are doing to them what they are trying to do to us," was one comment in quarters close to the government.

German naval sources noted with satisfaction that butter rationing is scheduled to be introduced in Britain and declared such a necessity was the result of harrassment of British sea trade.

While the Nazi press was preparing the nation for what Field Marshall Herman Wilhelm Goering's newspaper, the Essenger National Zeitung, warned would be a "relentless" fight, more than 20 army and air force generals and staff officers were reported to have conferred in Adolf Hitler's chancellery last night.

The fuehrer was believed to have participated in some of his war leaders' discussions.

'TIGER WOMAN' SEARCH PUSHED

Fear Winnie Ruth Judd Who Escaped From Hospital Will Kill Again.

in her bed. Presumably, she would now seek to see her husband. From the Los Angeles hospital, he appealed to her to either surrender to authorities or communicate with him at once.

They were estranged in 1931 when she killed Agnes Anne Le Roi and Hedvig Samuelson in a cottage they shared here, dissected their bodies, and shipped the parts in a trunk to Los Angeles.

Her note, which was addressed to no one but which her parents believed was intended for Gov. Jones, revealed the symptoms of her mental disease. It revealed delusions of persecution and hinted at months, perhaps years, of introspective and morbid brooding. Authorities were well aware that should she encounter any person whom she suspected of "persecuting" her, his life would not be safe. This intensified the search for her, gave it its frenzied urgency.

In her note, she laid down one condition to her surrender.

"I will surrender to you, on condition you promise me that Dr. Saxe (Dr. Louis Saxe, superintendent of the hospital), will be forced to leave me alone."

Left Parents' Home.

Her mother, Mrs. H. J. McKinnell, took the note to Gov. Jones and was scolded by the governor for not notifying the authorities at once of her daughter's escape. She said that both she and her husband, the Rev. McKinnell, had urged her to surrender. Winnie Ruth left her parents' home after 15 minutes, without saying where she was going or what she planned, her mother said.

Psychiatrists found the symptoms of her mental malady—progressive and incurable dementia praecox in her note. Written in pencil, unaddressed, and unsigned, it follows in part:

"I am only going to see my father and husband. I have a right to.

"My husband coaxed me to surrender to the police. I did and look what happens. Dr. Saxe tortures me. Even Hitler would not torture his prisoners when they surrender. I was not overcome so I had to surrender only a coward would torture one helpless. I am helpless because I trusted fairness I do not get it.

"Dr. Saxe says I have no privileges. I did have until he came here. He took them away. For 18 months I have yard parole, could sit in the yard alone or with my family. I never abused a privilege or broke a trust. Dr. Saxe took my privileges because he hates me."

"I am persecuted by the Catholics. . . ."

"I am desperate to see my father. I am going to see him tonight then somehow see my husband and I will surrender to you on condition you promise me Dr. Saxe will be forced to leave me alone.

"I will not run away. I do not want my freedom illegal."

Mrs. Judd was pronounced insane and incarcerated in the state hospital two miles west of here, in 1932. Earlier she had been convicted of murder and sentenced to hang.

She shot her friends during a quarrel over a man. She checked the trunk containing their bodies on her railroad ticket to Los Angeles. A station agent there noticed blood trickling out of the trunk and, over her protest, insisted upon opening it. She said she would get the key and disappeared. She was the objective of a wide-spread search for seven days.

She surrendered when Dr. Judd appealed to her through newspapers and radio. Her sobriquet, "tiger woman," sprung from her actions at her trial. She snarled at newspapermen and her guards.

On Feb. 8, 1932 she was found guilty of first degree murder and sentenced to hang April 21. While awaiting execution she sawed the bars of her cell in state prison death house but her escape was thwarted. Her execution was delayed while her case was reviewed by a superior court jury, which, on April 22, adjudged her insane.

The jury's verdict provided that should she ever regain her sanity she should summarily be hanged.

Mrs. Judd apparently escaped an hour or so before midnight Tuesday. She so cunningly executed the escape that it was not discovered until after 9 a. m. yesterday.

30 APPLY FOR CITIZEN PAPERS

Naturalization Officers Aid In Filing of Applications.

Thirty Mansfield and Richland county residents seeking citizenship papers were given help in filing their petitions today by two naturalization officers and Norman P. Henry, deputy county clerk of courts, at the courthouse.

Assisting Henry were A. E. Wetherbee and L. I. Bundy from the federal immigration office at Youngstown.

No deadline had been set today for filing petitions for hearing at the next examination period late in February. Two examinations are conducted annually in the county, one in September and the other in February or March.

FIGHTS TO LIVE

READING, Pa. — (AP) — An 11-year-old boy still lived today although his heart and left lung were exposed by a shotgun blast.

The boy, Robert Van Buskirk, was kept in an oxygen tent and hospital physicians noted "slight improvement" in his condition. He was shot last night as he and two companions played with shotguns.

ISSUES FIRST

Expects Results of Bigelow Pension Vote by Midnight.

Ohioans should know by midnight, Nov. 7 whether the Bigelow amendments and the other two state issues to be voted on election day are approved or defeated Secretary of State Earl Griffith predicted today.

Griffith instructed the election boards in Richland and other counties to count the state-wide issue ballots first and to report to him after 10 precincts have been tabulated. Until the count is complete, the boards must call in with each additional 10 precincts.

By that method he expects to have complete state returns earlier than in previous elections. Griffith said it will be the first time the secretary of state had tabulated returns in an "off-year" election.

but that of every city in the country.

"He might make a study of the situation and an 'honest' effort to solve it, but that's all it will ever amount to."

As for the reorganization of the city engineering department which Locke promised, Baer replied that there was no need for a "wilful waste" of funds to build up a department at the "expense of the taxpayer."

Baer also blasted at Locke's promise to reorganize the city's engineering department, eliminating "unnecessary employment of outside engineering services."

Defending Mayor Hunter's action in hiring outside help in that department for special projects, the veteran campaigner asserted it was the "most economical thing to do."

"Certainly the administration could hire expensive engineers and they might do several thousand dollars worth of good the first year, but what after that?"

He charged that it was only a willful waste of "taxpayers money" to hire expensive assistance for engineering services, when added help is only needed on occasion.

With precinct workers engaged in an active campaign to get out the sick vote before the deadline next Thursday, Baer said the Young Democratic club today threw its forces into the campaign.

Meeting last night the young Democrats enlisted an army of 60 precinct workers to assist in the campaign and set Nov. 3, for a rally to be held at Prospect park for the young Democrats, Marshal C. Moore, president of the club said.

Tonight a colored Democratic rally will be held at the Mt. Calvary Baptist hall on North Main street.

FUMES KILL 2

Gas From Heater Near Bed Fatal To Elderly Women.

CINCINNATI—(U.P.) — Coroner Frank M. Coppock, jr., reported today that fumes from an oil-burning stove had caused the death of two elderly women in a rest home near Madeira.

The bodies of Mrs. Irene Carter, 73, and Mrs. Agnes Herman, 65, were discovered yesterday in a basement bedroom at the Steigler home. An oil heater was near the bed and apparently the women had forgotten to open a window before going to sleep.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Mike Tierney, guard at Ohio penitentiary for nine years, resigned today after admitting he sold a lottery ticket to convict Frank Voeghtly.

Voeghtly, 65, serving life for second degree murder, was found with 20 tickets in his pocket when Warden Frank D. Henderson ordered a "shakedown."

PASTORS WHO DRINK FLAYED

W. C. T. U. Convention Speakers Say 'They Must be Converted.'

CLEVELAND —(INS)— Pastors who drink alcoholic beverages and who do not consider drinking sinful were attacked today at the state convention of the Women's Christian Temperance union.

Mrs. De Leigh Colvin of New York, national vice president, said that many ministers kept alcoholic beverages in their homes and considered it no sin to drink or to serve beer or wine to their friends.

"We will have to convert these ministers who make our work so difficult," Mrs. Colvin declared. "Many churches do not hold in disfavor those members who sell liquor."

tral committeeman from the 17th district, said recent sweeping Republican victories in Cleveland and Columbus were a good omen for the party in Mansfield.

Since last night's meeting was held in the Third ward, George Kyle, the present councilman who is seeking re-election, was given the favored spot on the program.

Kyle said he would work for improvement of alleys in the Third ward if he is re-elected.

"I stand squarely on my past council record in this campaign," he told the group.

Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch repeated his statement that "No person convicted in my court on a traffic charge ever got by without a fine and costs."

William J. Locke, candidate for mayor, urged support of the councilman-at-large candidates, James R. Anderson, P. W. Backenstos, and James W. Peyton, since "their election is essential to the carrying out of the party's program for the city."

Other candidates who were introduced were Herbert L. Rinehart for treasurer; Lydon Beam for city solicitor, Will G. Herrold for city treasurer, William C. Mansfield for council president, and Frank R. Tingley for Madison township trustee.

The meeting was in charge of Mrs. Carl Spangler, chairman of the Republican Women's council.

Locke and the other candidates are scheduled to speak at a rally at 7:30 p. m. today in the West Fifth street school. Atty. John L. Catlett will preside.

DEPORT 'SUBVERSIVE' ALIENS, GARDNER SAYS IN LEGION TALK

R. B. Gardner of Mansfield, state commander of the American Legion was on record today as advocating that all aliens with "subversive interests" should be returned to their native countries.

Gardner addressed a group of 400 last night at a banquet of the 51 posts of the Cuyahoga County council of the Legion, and at 10 p. m. talked over radio station WGAR Cleveland, against the Bigelow pension plan and changes in the state constitution.

Members of subversive elements, Gardner said, "should go back to fight for the countries which they love as those countries apparently are short of manpower." "The war in Europe," he said, "is not the concern of the United States."

Gardner praised the work of the Dies committee investigation and the wide-spread publicity it has given to subversive interests and individuals.

"The committee has shown us that there are wolves where we had been crying wolf," he declared.

Gardner was in Cleveland for the installation of officers of the Cuyahoga Legion Council and its auxiliary. In his radio talk he said that the Bigelow proposals to change the constitution were contrary to good Americanism and to American Legion ideals as outlined in the preamble of the Legion constitution.

Gardner will speak again Saturday night in Cincinnati before the Hamilton county Legion council and will talk on the Bigelow pension over WLW at 10 p. m.

Congress to Adjourn Next Week, Ohio Lawmaker Says

POLK PREDICTS SESSION WILL END QUICKLY

Declares Final Consideration of Neutrality in House Will Require Only Few Days.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Rep. James G. Polk (D-Ohio) forecast today that congress would adjourn the special session next week after house action on neutrality legislation.

He said indications were that the senate would send the measure to the house before the weekend and that final consideration would require only a few days.

Polk is among Ohio members who have not committed themselves definitely for or against repeal of the arms emgargo.

Rep. John Vorys (R-Ohio), credited with upsetting administration plans to repeal the arms embargo section of the neutrality law several months ago, expressed doubt that the house had changed its mind.

A senate vote to repeal the section, said Vorys, would not settle the issue.

"It is quite possible," he added in an interview, "that the balance of power rests with members who have not decided one way or the other, and I believe these will oppose the change after debate."

Sees War Threat.

Rep. Earl R. Lewis (R-Ohio) told the house yesterday repeal of the arms embargo would be a "start down the same path" that led to involvement of this country in the World war.

Declaring the embargo was adopted specifically to keep the country out of war, Lewis asked:

"Is it not strange that we should so soon seriously consider the reversal of a policy so recently and so deliberately framed?"

Lewis recalled events during the World war, including the sale of arms to belligerents by the United States, and said:

"Now at the very outset of this new war it is proposed that we start down that same path. If we do, can there be any doubt to what tragic destination it leads? . . . Lifting of the embargo is the first step on the path that has no turning."

"We dare not go to war," the Ohioan said. "When we entered the World war our national debt was only about a billion and a quarter dollars. We came out of that war with a national debt of more than twenty six billion dollars, a staggering sum, but if we enter this presnt war we shall enter with a national debt of more than forty one billion dollars. How much more debt can this nation stand and survive?

"The national debt at the conclusion of a long drawn out war will make dictatorship inevitable. . . ."

Red Cross Holds Annual Drive To Prevent Accidents

The Red Cross annual "self check" of hazards in the home and on the farm is under way this week through schools, as a part of the organization's accident prevention program.

More than 10,000 "self check" questionnaires will be distributed this week to homes in Mansfield and Richland county as a part of a national program. About 2,000 Red Cross chapters in the nation are conducting similar campaigns.

Roy Spetka, chapter chairman, said today the questionnaires are designed to make people conscious of hazards which exist in most homes and which are easily eliminated.

The questionnaires inquire about gas burners, electric cords, fire arms within reach of children, poisons about the house, objects on the stair steps, sharp, pointed objects within reach of children, broken toys, and many other things that keep the fatal accidents in homes and on farms running neck and neck with traffic fatalities on the highways.

They are given to school children to take to their parents during "self check" week.

Two Mansfield hunters, Floyd Dent and Joe Heilman, will start out tomorrow on a camping trip into Canada, which will have a great bearing on a party planned for Dec. 6. They're going to hunt deer in Ontario, Canada, and hope to bring back venison for the annual scoutmasters' party planned for Dec. 6. In past years they have always returned with enough venison for the dinner, although they never make any promises. They will be gone for about two weeks.

An unidentified Shelby elementary school teacher will probably go down in history for an innovation this year. It came to light when a Shelby merchant noticed students carefully cleaning Halloween soap markings off his display window. When he asked them about it, they explained that they hadn't put the soap there, but that their instructor thought it would be a fine Halloween gesture to take it off. So while some youngsters spend their nights soaping windows, others spend hours during the day taking it off. The Congressional medal committee should hear of this.

City firemen were somewhat exasperated when a telephone operator called and said there was a fire but that she didn't know where because the caller had hung up after asking for assistance. Several minutes later the telephone in Central station rang and a feminine voice gave the location of the blaze. She explained to Fire Chief C. J. Seeburger later she thought that all that was necessary was to tell the operator there was a fire and she would know where it was.

With the U. S. Marine band returning to Mansfield for two concerts, Sunday, William A. Duff, Ashland historian and former Mansfield newspaper man, observes in his column in the Ashland Times-Gazette that the famous band played in Mansfield and Ashland just 15 years ago. It was directed then by Capt. William H. Santelmann and this time, his son, Lieut. William F. Santelmann, will lead the organization. The younger Santelmann is second leader of the band, and is substituting for Director Taylor Branson on the 1939 tour.

ACCEPT BIG JOB

Red Cross Workers to Make 320 Garments for Refugees.

A task of knitting and sewing for war refugees was accepted yesterday by the Richland County chapter of the Red Cross, when the production committee, headed by Mrs. Leopold Adams, agreed to produce 320 knitted garments and dresses by Jan. 1.

National headquarters sent a request to the county chapter to accept a quota which includes 80 men's sweaters, 40 women's sweaters, 80 children's sweaters, 40 women's dresses of heavy material and 80 girls' dresses of heavy material.

Urgent requests have been received by national Red Cross, the communication said, for winter garments for Polish refugees now in Rumania, Hungary, Latvia and Lithuania.

The British and French Red Cross also have asked for articles of clothing. The American Red Cross has sent 30,000 suits of winter underwear, 10,000 pairs of heavy shoes and 5,000 blankets.

A Red Cross sewing room will be opened in the downtown district within a few days.

WHEAT CROPS SAVED BY RAIN

Farmers Rejoice as Storm Brings Half-Inch Fall; Mercury Hits 70.

Farmers near Mansfield rejoiced with others in the state today as heavy showers ended a prolonged drought and replenished the water supply in rural areas where farmers had been hauling water for their stock.

A severe electrical storm brought more than a half inch of rain to Mansfield last night and boosted the total rainfall for the past two days to .71 of an inch.

Following the storm, temperatures shot up to summer levels and at noon today the mercury registered 70 degrees. The 24-hour average of 60 was 13 degrees above normal.

More rain was forecast for tonight and Friday with no marked temperature changes in sight.

Crop experts at Ohio State university said the rain would "save" the winter wheat crop which has been threatened in central and southern Ohio by the drought. In many sections the newly planted wheat has been dormant for three weeks because of lack of moisture.

Rain was so scarce in central Ohio that a number of steams had dried up, destroying fish. The heavy showers last night were expected to fill the creeks and aid the surviving fish.

Last night's rainfall was heaviest in central and southwestern parts of the state which had been hit hardest by the drought. Springfield had 1.96 inches, the heaviest fall of the year. Columbus received 1.85 inches and Dayton got 1.02 inches.

'SKY'S LIMIT' IN AMBITIOUS LEGION DRIVE FOR MEMBERS

With one of its charter members, R. B. Gardner, now state commander, the McVey post of the American Legion today had embarked on its most ambitious membership campaign since early post-war days.

Heading the drive as general chairman is Earl Saltzgaber assisted by 160 workers. Saltzgaber said the state organization had given the post a quota of 410 members, including both new and renewed memberships.

But pointing out the post already has a membership of 502, the chairman said the "sky is the limit" and his workers would attempt to get 100 per cent renewal memberships and as many new members as possible.

The state organization awards all posts which reach their quotas by Armistice day. The Mansfield group will celebrate with a victory dinner if successful.

The membership campaign organization has been set up with committees in every major industrial plant and business classification in the city.

The 27 committee chairmen in the set-up are V. E. "Sam" Vining and Pat H. Downs, associate chairmen of the Westinghouse committee: Winfield Bonnell, Frank Mahoney, Robert Jones, Robert Young, A. L. Allen, D. A. McCullough, Harry Eyerly, Ralph Hughes, Charles Avery, Nathan Lifson, H. R. Barnes, Paul M. Eliot, John Gabler.

C. B. McCartney, John Stentz, Fred Miller, Clarence Shill, Herbert Gibbs, Harry Crouse, Herman Hearing, Glenn Marriott, G. W. Harmony, Ernest C. Fuller, George C. Kahl, Clyde L. Myers, and Rev. Grover E. Swoyer.

CELLS VACANT

Ohio Pen's 'Death Row' Empty First Time in 23 Years.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—The hush in Ohio penitentiary's death row was deeper today. For the first time in exactly 23 years, not a man sat there waiting the one-way trip down the hall.

The last occupant walked away last night—Lafe Williams of Butler county, who went smiling to his death in the electric chair for the buldgeoning of 65-year-old Henry Graham in July of 1938.

"How are you?" asked Prison Doctor George W. Keil as the last man marched firmly into the death chamber.

"Just fine!" Williams replied heartily and sat down to die, his face bright in what witnesses said was a "genuine" smile.

Williams had "company" for his last meal—the death row porter and the convict barber who shaved him.

PEDESTRIAN AND WOMAN HURT IN OTHER MISHAPS

Child Believed Suffering From Fractured Skull; Woman's Car Skids, Hits Tree.

Three persons were injured, one critically, in three accidents yesterday afternoon and last night. All three are in General hospital.

Most seriously injured was Donald Boyle, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boyle, 87 East Fourth street, struck by an automobile while crossing East Fourth street at Adams street shortly before 6 p. m.

Hospital attendants said he suffered a possible skull fracture. His condition was described as "just fair."

Also injured were Edward E. Reeves, of R. D. 1, Guernsey, struck by an automobile at East Fourth and Elm streets two hours after the Boyle boy was hit, and Mrs. Anna Soliday, 104 East Fourth street, whose machine skidded on wet pavement yesterday afternoon and struck a tree on Park avenue west near Sycamore street.

Police said the Boyle youth was struck by a car operated by Ivan Flemming, 275 West First street, when the boy dashed into the street.

Says Boy Ran Into Street.

Flemming told officers the traffic light was red at the intersection and that he had slowed up when the boy ran in front of his machine.

Reeves, officers reported, was hit by a machine driven by Clarence H. Halverson, 71 Dale avenue.

His condition was reported as "fair" by hospital attendants. They said they did not know the extent of his injuries.

Mrs. Soliday, who sustained lacerations and bruises was reported in "good" condition.

Police said she was injured when her machine skidded on the wet street car rails and went over the curb and struck a tree, demolishing the machine.

TAFT OPPOSES

Hopes Bigelow Pensions Will Meet Decisive Defeat.

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—Senator Robert A. Taft, (R.,O.) was on record today against the Bigelow amendments to be submitted to Ohio voters Nov. 7 proposing a $50-a-month old age pensions and a reduction in the number of signatures required for initiative and referendum movements.

The senator called on Ohio voters to repudiate the amendments "by so decisive a vote that they will never again be revived" and asserted that Herbert S. Bigelow, Cincinnati, was using the issues to "get his foot in the door" for his lifelong hobby, the single tax on land.

Senator Vic Donahey, (D., O.) has predicted defeat for the proposals and he denounced the amendment dealing with signatures.

Pegler Goes to Reno For a Look at Gambling of All Sorts Allowed There

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

RENO, Nev.—There seems to be two stories here, one about the wide open, legal gambling and the divorce industry, the other about Nevada's humane attitude toward soulless corporations and the rich, this is the one about gambling and divorce.

The gambling is indubitably open, legal and one of the principal occupations of a great many locals and casuals. However, any vice which is cheap tends to demoralize itself and in Reno there is a roulette wheel for which one-cent chips are sold and most of the bet on all the games, with the exception of faro and craps, are in amounts of a quarter or less.

The standard limit in roulette is $5 on a number, but this is reached only when some high-roller happens along from the outside. But the vast bulk of the gambling, and it is vast only in bulk and over a long period, is pathetic in its scrawny poverty by comparison with the hell-roaring extravagance of the old buccaneers of Virginia City in the golden days and even by comparison with the more modest recklessness of the small miners then and later.

Even Monte Carlo, in the day of the three-cent franc, with only one joint and evening dress required, out-gambled all Reno today.

Hundreds of slot machines line the walls and stand back-to-back in solid rows in the dumps and lurk in the corners of stores and restaurants, usually near the cash register, so as to suggest an idea to the customer who has just received some change. But those built for quarters receive little action, while the nickel and dime machines grind in the small money of a clientele composed for the most part of gamblers who are by no stretch of the imagination Park Ave., scions and scionesses of Hollywood stars. They seem closer to the WPA.

In the keno rooms where cards are two for a dime, and in the big department stores of the gambling business which offer everything including the paddle-wheel, ladies of the most reserved type and plainly not of the divorcing set are as much at home as the dealers who get $15 a day and enjoy full respectability under the law.

In Nevada gambling, properly licensed and provided the tools are honest, is as respectable as preaching and a stickman is on even terms, legally, with the governor himself. Therefore, an elderly lady with her children grown up and gone away and with a dollar in hand is no more out of place spotting nickels on the corners of a layout or peering at the numbers on a pair of keno cards than she would be scuffling around in the chain grocery, squeezing melons and complaining of the price of neck-bones for stew.

That business about the children being grown up and away is just something out of my sentimental imagination. For all I know, she may be an old-time, professional hoyden with a record as long as a rubber mile. You can't go up and ask old ladies if they are respectable.

From the way this is developing I feel justified in predicting that I won't get around to the divorce story today, but will make that one No. 2 and the tax thing No. 3.

It is snobbish to say that a one-cent bet by a person who is gaited that way economically is less glamorous than a $100 or $1,000 bet, or name any figure you like, by a rich man or woman, but that is the way it is. Dime bets are tawdry, too, for the same reason that people all around the country lap up subsidized publicity, disguised as news, about rich and silly night-crawlers in the expensive saloons of New York but don't care at all about the outings and brawls of factory people in Joe's grill, except as police news.

In Reno the city collected $59,452 and the county $48,142 in license fees from gambling devices in the year ended last June 30, at a flat rate per table, machine or whatnot, and without regard for the total amount of money gambled through them. I don't want to say that this unknown aggregate was mostly little money, because a fancy man who is being kept by a rich woman, in or out of wedlock, may send in thousands of dollars in a few hours and bend the ratio out of shape. But the grind is not maintained by the pretty people. It is supported by the town types of both sexes, from 9 o'clock of a Monday morning, to my certain knowledge, to long beyond 12 of a Saturday night. And something which I thoroughly understand, now that I am an old setter, 48 hours in Reno, boy and man, is our casual acceptance of all this gambling as petty amusement and commerce, unrelated to vice.

It startles a stranger at first. Then he doesn't give it much of a thought. I hear it is the same way in those South Sea places where the ladies go around so nonchalant.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Several crowned heads of Hollywood may be feeling the box-office ax in the next "election."

The popularity leaders—determined by the Motion Picture Herald in its annual poll of American independent exhibitors—stand to be shuffled as the returns on an October-to-October exhibition year start coming in.

What of Shirley Temple, for years the No. 1 star in box-office draw? There's no sure way of telling, but there's room for doubt that the queen of the screen can hold her ground against the competition of such an upstart as Mickey Rooney. Shirley had three releases in the balloting year: "Just Around the Corner," "The Little Princess," and "Susannah of the Mounties." You can draw your own conclusions.

The Rooney kid, surging up with "Boys Town" and riding high with the Hardy Family, with "Huck Finn" thrown in, stands a good chance to topple Temple. He was fourth last year.

The 1938 leaders were, in this order: Shirley Temple, Clark Gable, Sonja Henie, Mickey Rooney, Spencer Tracy, Robert Taylor, Myrna Loy, Jane Withers, Alice Faye and Tyrone Power.

Gable spent the year practically on "Gone With the Wind." Aside from that, he had "Too Hot to Handle" and "Idiots' Delight" in general release. Looks like a notch or two down.

Henie will stay among the elect, with "Lucky Star" and "Second Fiddle," but she oughtn't to climb any higher than third, may have trouble keeping that spot.

Tracy, with "Boys Town" and the more recent "Stanley and Livingstone" among his bids, ought to climb. For Taylor, the matinee kid, the prospects aren't so good. What's he had? "The Crowd Roars," "Stand Up and Fight," "Lucky Night" and "Lady of the Tropics." Well, he might pull through, but he had two heavy burdens to haul in "Lucky Night" and "Lady of the Tropics."

Myrna Loy is even more doubtful. "Too Hot to Handle," followed by "Lucky Night" and "The Rains Came"—the last-named her strongest film, and probably too late to count in many spots.

Jane Withers ought to hold up, but Alice Faye is a question-mark. Her new "Hollywood Cavalcade" comes rather late.

But Tyrone Power—ah, there's the fair-haired boy. Starred in "Jesse James," which was last season's top picture financially, Tyrone is a sure thing.

To take the places of any stars who may be dislodged, the "dark horses" are champing at the bit. They are, notably, Bette Davis, with "Dark Victory" and "The Old Maid" both big grossers; Errol Flynn, whose "Dodge City" was a big one; Robert Donat, by virtue of "Goodbye Mr. Chips"; Ginger Rogers because of "The Castles," "Bachelor Mother" and "Fifth Avenue Girl." Deanna Durbin can't be counted out, either. "Three Smart Girls Grow Up" did phenomenal business.

If Bette Davis gets in, things will have come to a pretty pass in pictures—because the "top ten" list would include two of Hollywood's top-ranking performers; performers, I mean, as distinguished from "personalities."

She Let Him Make Choice

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

Not long after he began paying attention to me, he told me about a girl in his home town. Then he showed me a letter which he had written her saying she need not come here for a visit as things were different, and he had made plans which had to do with me.

We saw each other every evening, had dinner at each other's houses, and his mother seemed devoted to me, inviting me to her home often.

Then his mother went back to her home town, and we received word that she was bringing the girl back with her. We both lost sleep over this. I knew if I stayed around after the girl came that it would be hard for him to decide between us, so I went away, and after I was gone two days, he married the other girl after not having seen her for three years. He still asks for me.

Shall I try to see him and ask if certain gossip going around about me has his sanction.

JUST THINKING.

If you value your peace of mind, don't delude yourself that it's necessary for you to see this boy and talk things over. Forget him, and don't lose any time over the process. He has proved himself to be weak, fickle and tied to his mother's apron-strings. You've really made a lucky escape, but it may take you some time to realize that. The best way to forget an old beau is to acquire a new one. In this you have my best wishes.

Exercises For Thin Chested

By MME QUI VIVE

To be in perfect form a woman's neck should be slightly wider from back to front than from side to side. The lower portion in front should have a neat indentation just south of where the Adam's apple would be if she had one. Collarbones should not be on display and there must be a gradual fullness from collar bones to bust. That's putting up a good front.

When there are bony shelves you can make two guesses as to the cause. The victim of this unsightly defect has not attended properly to her eating duties and has become emaciated, or she is a lazy little loafer and won't hold herself correctly. Any woman who throws the shoulders forward, lets the chest cave in and the tummy bulge is going to show her collarbones unless she is upholstered with adipose tissue.

Here is a good exercise for the collarbone girl. Stand erect, lift the hands high above the head, swing them backward, then down at the sides; lift the chest high when the hands fall at the sides again. This movement gives the lungs an air bath, pulls hard on the muscles of the torso way down to the waistline. Five minutes night and morning.

Keep posture in mind. Exercises will avail no good results if posture is inert and slouchy. Walk with the legs straight, no buckling of the knees. Have a feeling of trimness at the hipline, which comes by holding the abdominal muscles as close to your back bone as you can pack them.

Don't be a shallow breather.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, Oct. 27.

WHILE THERE are astral indications of sudden, surprising and progressive occurrences on this day, at the same time there are auguries of tenacious obstacles, delays and disappointments. There might be some sort of group opposition or secret enmity, but if this could be prudently overcome, there might ensue very definite progress and personal satisfaction, with increased prestige and popularity. Perseverance, patience and determination may win the day.

Those whose birthday it is may experience some very surprising adventures and happy experiences which spell progress, prosperity and personal power and gratification if they can call on their stamina and patience to resist opposition, deceit and stubborn obstacles.

A child born on this day may have many endowments for success over stubborn obstacles and hostility, being talented, resourceful, ambitious and persistent, with definite executive and organizing ability.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

He had said "bringing," not coming up with him. That must mean Dicky was in custody. Was this the "jam" my Peter Pan had feared when he had asked me to stand by him and believe in him no matter what happened?

Luckily, I had not put up the receiver while the waves of fear went over me. But I was not sure I heard aright when the voice of the operator subdued to the merest whisper.

"Mrs. Graham! Are you listening?"

"Yes," I whispered back.

"Your guard says you must not let those men in—yet. Open the door only the length of the night chain, and keep to one side of it, out of range of possible bullets. Keep stalling them, asking them questions until we find out what this is all about. Can you hear me? Do you understand what I say?"

"They are here now. Goodbye," I said.

I had whispered the last words, and I replaced the telephone on the hook with infinite care lest no slightest sound reach the ears of the men outside the door, upon which Dicky's familiar knock had just sounded.

"Marjie!" Dicky's husky, strained voice was calling. "Are you there, Marjie? Let me in! Hurry!"

I keyed up every faculty to attention as I crossed the room, calling out cheerily:

"All right, Ricky. I'm coming." And when I opened the door, I kept myself "on my toes" so that, if necessary, I might dodge quickly to one side. And I did not take off the night chain. Instead, I gave a frightened little scream, the natural reaction of a nervous woman.

"Oh-h Ricky! Policemen! What is the matter? What has happened?"

My husband's face was strained, his eyes tortured. I noticed that one of the policemen, if they really were officers, kept his eyes on Dicky while the other one watched me, so that it was impossible to signal each other with our eyes or with facial expressions.

"Nothing, sweetheart," my husband said soothingly. "These officers just want to ask you some questions. Let us in, please."

"I—I can't," I said, pretending embarrassment. "The apartment's a mess. I didn't expect you to bring strange men home with you, Ricky, let alone police officers. Why can't they ask the questions through the door? I'll answer if I can, although why in the world policemen should want to ask me questions, I don't know. What do you say I've been doing, officer?" I addressed the man watching me. "I haven't been speeding, for I haven't driven a car lately, and I'm sure I haven't done anything else. I never had a policeman come to my door before. It frightens me, Ricky. I don't think it was a clubby trick at all."

"The dame's stalling for some reason. She's putting on a phony act. Look here, big boy! You talk turkey to her and get us in there. We can't stand around here all night, and we're going to ask any questions inside that room, not anywhere else. So get busy!"

"Look here, Marj!" Dicky's voice was raucous, brutal. "I've had enough of this. I asked you nicely to let us in, and you handed out all this impossible rigmarole. Now I'm not asking you, I'm telling you. Take those chains down this second and let us in. Do you hear?"

I put my hands on my hips, fish-wife fashion, and glared at him. But a corner of my eye saw that the right hand of the officer nearest me had gone to the holster at his waist.

"Yes, I hear," I said with an ugly obstinate inflection, "but I'll let those chains down when I get good and ready," not because you're trying to bully me into it."

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

BY Shepard Barclay

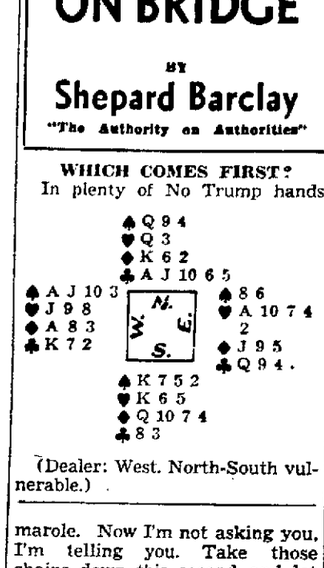
"The Authority on Authorities"

WHICH COMES FIRST?

In plenty of No Trump hands the declarer has to try finesses in two suits. The fate of his contract may depend upon which finesse is taken first. If the one toward the dangerous defender comes early, while the declarer can still protect himself against that player's suit, his contract may be safe. But, if the order is reversed, he may be out of luck.

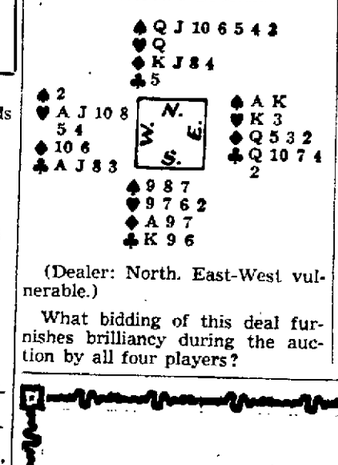
At several tables of a duplicate game, West got into 3-No Trumps on this deal. Usually he bid 1-No Trump, East 2-Hearts, West 2-No Trumps, East 3-Hearts and West 3-No Trumps. After North led the club J, the contract was beaten. West won with the K, finessed the heart J to the K, a club returned and North took the club A, led the club Q, won the spade finesse and ran two clubs.

Where North led the club 9, dummy's 9 won, the spade finesse lost, the club A won and then the declarer ran the needed tricks.



(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

What bidding of this deal furnishes brilliancy during the auction by all four players?

For Quick Cough Relief, Mix This at Home

Saves You Much Money, and It's So Easily Mixed.

Here's an old home remedy your mother probably used, but, for real results, it is still one of the most effective and dependable, for coughs due to colds. Once tried, you'll swear by it.

It's no trouble. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar in 1 cup water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed—a child could do it.

Now put 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This makes a full pint of truly splendid cough medicine, and gives you about four times as much for your money. It keeps perfectly, tastes fine, and lasts a family a long time.

And you'll say it's really amazing, for quick action. You can feel it take hold promptly. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep.

Pinex is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiacol, in concentrated form, well-known for its prompt action on throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

A SERIOUS CAUSE of faded stockings now found to be the alkali in soap suds. So suds your stockings with Vel, marvelous new hard-water suds made by Colgate for fine fabrics. Vel is not a soap. Contains no alkali to fade the delicate color of stockings. Makes big suds in cold water, thus ideal for all fine fabrics.

See Vel make mountains of billowy suds, yet it leaves no ring around the bowl, showing that Vel also leaves no soap-scum in fabrics to dull the sheen and cause that "cottony" look.
VEL

Ideal for all fine fabrics because Vel washes things cleaner and newer looking. Thus they last longer and keep their silky luster.

NOW see stockings keep their delicate sheerness and fresh color, amazingly longer. See woolens and underwear regain bride-like freshness and color! Colored prints sing with radiant sparkle!

Results are startling because science has found a way to make a wonderful new suds, called Vel, that contains no alkali to fade colors. And Vel can't form ruinous soap-scum to cause that "cottony" look in fine fabrics.

You can feel this slippery, slimy scum in soap suds. But these amazing new Vel suds feel soft and pure.

That's because Vel is not a soap. It's a special new hard-water suds perfected by Colgate. It makes as much as 5 times more suds than expensive soap flakes in hardest water. And it makes hardest water act soft as rainwater.

Moreover Vel makes abundant suds in cold water—so Vel is ideal for fine fabrics.

You can see why Vel is better than the finest soap-flakes for fine fabrics, because Vel does not form a ring of soap-scum around the bowl. That proves Vel can't leave ruinous soap-scum in your stockings, underwear and woolens, to give dainty things that "cottony" look, and because Vel contains no alkali, it helps colors keep fresh much longer.

So easy on hands, too, because Vel is neutral—contains no acid, no alkali to irritate the skin.

It even outlasts pure soap 2 to 1 in hardest water! Buy Vel today at grocers. Made and guaranteed by Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Company.

LEGACY OF LOVE + + + + + +

CHAPTER IX

Roger, son of Dain Brewster the lumber king, had always been wildly irresponsible, but otherwise good company. He was still the idol of his mother, Selia, who always excused his faults. His father pretended to lecture this incorrigible thirty-year-old son, but usually followed harsh words with a fat check, thus ruining all pretention of discipline. Roger was supposed to be something or other in a lumber company owned by his father, but spent far more time playing polo and golf than in his office. He was genial, a good spender, and therefore immensely popular.

He had proposed to Rita the year she came out, and been promptly rejected, but had ever afterward remained one of her best men friends. Rita had heard of too many escapades of this handsome Romeo to take him seriously. But she could not have selected a more suitable companion for her present turbulent mood, because Roger was always best at night when the hours seemed too short to burn out his high-voltaged gaiety.

Rita stood before the full-length mirror in her dressing-room giving herself last-minute inspection. Roger liked his women alluring, and he was waiting now down in the living-room. But Rita was in no hurry. Let him wait.

She looked innocent and excited enough to be a sub-deb going to her first party, but her large blue eyes, shadowed by sleepless nights, revealed the complete story of her misery and rebellion. Under her evident exuberance was an agitated defiance of fate, a genuine alarm for the future.

She dared not allow herself to let down for an instant. If she did, she would be sunk.

Rita liked the long-sleeved, black surah silk dinner gown she was wearing. It was demurely high at the throat, yet it gave her an air of glamorous sophistication, and she liked that, too. At her breast she wore a large cameo surrounded by diamonds, but no other jewelry. Even her fingernails were lacquered with a subdued tint tonight, as if in deference to the tragedy which had so recently befallen the house of Green.

But she could not conceal the highlight of her whole personality—that glistening gold hair piled into a French roll on the back of her head, the bright curls framing her fair forehead, falling coquettishly back from her shell-like ears. Just a hint of rouge had been added to her hot cheeks and a mere touch of lipstick to her already crimson pout of a mouth.

She smiled a little crookedly at her reflection in the glass, stuck a hairpin into a curl, hoping it would hold.

"Pretty good work for an amateur!" she told herself. "Even Lernie would be surprised! You've put yourself together rather decently—I'm absolutely proud of you!"

She snatched a long ermine cape from the back of a chair, and hurried resolutely out of the room and down the stairs.

She met Roger Brewster with one of her old sunny smiles which he mistook for glad anticipation of his company. But he was so darkly handsome and distinguished-looking in his dinner clothes it was not too difficult to be nice to him.

They went swiftly arm in arm, out the door.

Some one switched on the light inside Roger's car. Rita, gathering up her wide skirt did not look up as Roger handed her into the rear seat and got in beside her.

She started when Roger said, "Rita—I want you to know my old Princeton buddy—Tom Cleveland, from New York. He's the grandson of Silas Cleveland—you know the diamond mine man."

The young man in the driver's seat turned around and grinned mockingly at her. She was looking at Stanton—Stanton, her former chauffeur—in silent amazement.

"Mr. Cleveland?" she exclaimed a bewildered "Oh! How much you resemble a man I used to know!"

• • •

Tom Cleveland, Silas Stanton, did not appear gratified by the [illegible] of [illegible] co. There [illegible] of amusement [illegible]

Rita couldn't decide whether he was laughing with her or at her—and it did make a difference.

"I know the whole story, Rita—about Tom's being your chauffeur. It was a swell stunt while it lasted. He wanted to see if he could take it, I guess. Wasn't that it, Tom?" Roger had made it sound perfectly plausible.

Tom Cleveland shut off the dome light and started the motor. The car began to get into motion. "You're more or less wrong," he flung over his shoulder," but it makes a good yarn. Not many people, I hope, will remember me as Miss Rhodes' chauffeur — I drove her very little."

Rita was rigid with anger. Oh, how she would like to give this unsufferable Tom Cleveland a piece of her mind! So this was the poor, deserving young man who had played on her sympathies, made love to her—couldn't marry her! He'd let her make a fool of herself and thought it a huge joke. Oh, she would never forgive him! His grandfather had left one of the biggest fortunes in America when he died last year, and Tom Cleveland must be one of the richest young men in the country. And he went around doing "stunts!" The despicable cad! She'd show him!

But she forced a laugh. "Think of the publicity!" she exclaimed, loud enough for Tom to hear. "Newspaper headlines, photographs, radio flashes! The fickle Miss Rhodes being chauffeured by a famous Cleveland as a sort of—of escapade! It's—why, it's colossal!"

She laughed again, a little shrilly.

"A lot of girls who have to earn a living would give a lot to get such a publicity break," put in Roger. "Too bad you get it, Rita. I know a cute little number in the Pasadena Playhouse who's praying for something hot like that to creep up on her."

Tom Cleveland made no comment, and neither did Rita. She stared out at the starlit sky, her mind in a turmoil. Why hadn't she known enough to stay home tonight?

"We're picking up Eva Sheen," Roger went on. "She's visiting the MacGregors at Santa Monica. Tom knew her in New York."

"How—interesting," came stiffly from Rita. "I met Miss Sheen when she was out here last year. She's—very attractive."

"Yeah—a darn clever girl. But tell me—you two—how did you make out? How could you fall for such a trick, Rita—Tom's no ordinary fellow."
